117 Dead, Property Loss Over $1 Billion

Eastern Flood Cleanup Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Massive cleanup, relief and rebuilding efforts have begun as the flood waters recede in the devastated East. The death toll from the week-long storm stood at 117 today and tens of thousands remained homeless.

As the rivers returned to their banks, thousands returned to their homes and businesses to clear away silt with shovels and brooms, and there was a break in the crisis that began when the storm named Agnes slammed across the Florida coast on her disastrous course a week ago.

With property damage over the $1 billion mark in Pennsylvania alone, the storm-torn states looked to the federal government for assistance, and a presidential aide promised it would be forthcoming.

The pledge came after the governors of five states and a representative from a sixth met in Harrisburg, Pa., Sunday with George A. Lincoln, director of the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Red Cross officials said 112,000 homeless people were being cared for at 330 emergency shelters in Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and Maryland, and they launched a disaster fund campaign for $10 million.

While most of the flood threat was past, watches were still kept in several areas including Petersburg, Va., where the Appomattox River was not expected to crest until tonight, and Almond, N.Y., threatened by a 14-mile-long artificial lake of rainwater behind a highway embankment.

There were some local problems in New York and Pennsylvania with spectators and looters.

A lack of potable drinking water was reported in at least 80 communities in Pennsylvania. In New York a shortage of containers for bringing in water was reported in Elmira.

At the meeting in Harrisburg Sunday, OEP director Lincoln told the governors that federal assistance ranging from rent-free, temporary housing to unemployment compensation would be available.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp expressed concern that the aid would not filter through the red tape quickly enough. Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel said he feared that not enough funds would be available.

Lincoln said the aid would be swift, sufficient and widespread.

Other governors attending the meeting were Linwood Holton of Virginia, Russell W. Peterson of Delaware and William T.

Cahill of New Jersey. New York's vacationing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sent a representative.

Red Cross President George M. Elsey announced his organization's $10 million disaster fund campaign after a seven-hour aerial survey of the affected area. He estimated that

Search Futile For Skyjacker In Indiana

PERU, Ind. (AP)—Looking for a "spark of light in a big dark room," the FBI says it hopes to find at least a clue today in the disappearance over north central Indiana of a skyjacker and more than $500,000 in ransom.

About 100 FBI agents roam Illinois, Indiana and Ohio and an equal number of state and local law enforcement officers have been searching without success since Saturday for the skyjacker and his loot in a thick, briar-infested woodland near Peru.

Reportedly armed with a .45 caliber submachine gun and a hand grenade, a hijacker commandeered an American Airlines 727 jetliner Friday night on a flight from St. Louis to Tulsa, Okla. He ordered it to return to St. Louis where he demanded $502,000 and two parachutes.

A car crashed into the plane at St. Louis and the skyjacker switched planes, taking with him a replacement crew and one of 94 original passengers. He disappeared somewhere over Peru early Saturday morning.

James Martin, agent-in-charge of the FBI in Indiana, said Sunday all leads in the case have been dead ends.

Martin said it was uncertain whether the skyjacker's parachute, for which he had to have instructions, had opened when he left the plane, leaving the possibility that he might be dead.

Say SEATO Is Dying

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Leaders of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization began arriving today for their annual meeting, and the leader of Australia's opposition Labor party told them their alliance is moribund.

Laborite Gough Whitlam said in a nationwide broadcast that SEATO "is really a monument to the era of John Foster Dulles. That era is dead."

Whitlam said Dulles, President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of state, organized SEATO for only one purpose, to contain China.

"SEATO is moribund because the assumptions on which it was based have altered out of all recognition."

The active members of SEATO are the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Britain, Thailand and the Philippines. France and Pakistan are still members but have been inactive for years. This year they are not even sending observers to the meeting opening Tuesday.

Jets Knock Out North Vietnam's Only Steel Plant

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots knocked out North Vietnam's only steel plant, put a power plant out of operation and dropped two bridges in week-end raids, the U.S. Command reported today.

Radio Hanoi claimed that six U.S. F4 Phantoms were shot down, but the U.S. Command said it had no plane losses to report. However, it is the command's policy to withhold such information as long as rescue operations are in progress.

U.S. pilots flew more than 270 strikes on Saturday and a like number on Sunday.

One flight of four Phantoms hit the Viet Tri thermal power plant 25 miles northwest of Hanoi on Sunday with 2,000-pound, laser-guided bombs. They "effectively destroyed the plant's capability to produce electrical power for the nearby industrial complex," a communique said.

Reconnaissance photos confirmed the destruction of the boiler facility, the electrical switching building, and the flue and coal conveyor, the communique said.

It was learned that the Viet Tri plant was attacked on June

1 with laser bombs, but that raid was not announced because it failed to put the plant out of commission.

The 7th Air Force announced that four of its Phantoms dropped laser-guided, 2,000-pound bombs into the open hearth furnaces of the Thai Nguyen steel plant 30 miles north of Hanoi on Saturday. Sixteen other Phantoms bombed warehouse areas.

The Air Force said part of the plant was not hit but the destruction of the furnaces destroyed North Vietnam's entire capacity for producing structural steel for railroads, bridges and buildings.

The U.S. Command disclosed that it is absorbing the tactical operations centers of both the 7th Air Force and Strategic Air Command, but it denied that this was because of the unauthorized Air Force strikes against North Vietnam earlier this year that touched off a congressional investigation.

U.S. spokesmen said the move had been planned before the disclosure that resulted in the dismissal and demotion of the commander of the 7th Air Force, Gen. John D. Lavelle.

Mideast Shelling Continues; Expect Curb On Guerrillas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Arab gunners exchanged fire across the occupied Golan Heights again today after a week of attacks, counterattacks and steadily rising tension.

The Israeli command said the Arabs fired several shells at Israeli Army positions, and the fire was returned. No casualties were reported.

In Beirut, the newspaper An Nahar reported that the Palestinian commandos in Lebanon had agreed in principle to halt their activities on the border with Israel "for the time being."

Official and public pressure against the guerrillas was reported rising in Lebanon, the only Arab country where they are not tightly controlled.

Hillsboro Woman Drowns While Fishing

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Wayne George, 53, of near Hillsboro drowned Sunday while fishing eight miles south of Greenfield.

A spokesman for the Ross County Sheriff's Department said she slipped from her fishing site on Paint Creek and was carried away by the current.

There was no comment from Lebanese government or guerrilla sources on the reported agreement, but An Nahar said the guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat had gone to Damascus to discuss it with Syria's president, Hafez Assad.

Lebanese premier Saeb Salam said Saturday his government would not crack down on the Palestinians. But he appealed to them to avoid giving Israel "pretexts for more aggression."

Israeli Deputy Premier Yigal Allon warned Lebanon in a speech Sunday night to control the guerrillas.

A Syria statement threatened "severe consequences" to Israel for its capture last week of a Syrian brigadier general and four Syrian colonels during the Israeli raid into Lebanon last Wednesday. Political sources in Tel Aviv said the capture has stimulated interest in diplomatic bargaining under way in Jerusalem for a full exchange of war prisoners.

In his speech to a collective farm meeting, Allon said Israel is prepared in principle to exchange its 103 Arab prisoners for 13 Israelis in Egyptian and Syrian jails.

Hanoi Claims Outside Help

Says New Forces Fixing Road Net

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today that "new forces" have joined the struggle to maintain its transportation system against the heavy U.S. bombing.

The statement, which came at the end of a long description of that struggle, did not identify the new forces. But they could be Chinese work units who have moved across the border into North Vietnam as they did during the 1965-68 bombing.

The statement by Radio Hanoi emphasized that there must be utmost cooperation with "these new forces which have just recently joined our communication and transportation forces."

"We must rapidly regularize and arrange the work situation to utilize to the fullest these new forces which recently joined us."

Radio Hanoi gave a vivid description of desperate efforts to keep transport moving despite the destructive bombing.

"Struggling against the enemy over each bridge and each road," Radio Hanoi reported, "our people ignore all hardships in carrying out repairs."

Radio Hanoi claimed the maintenance efforts were succeeding.

North Vietnam's claims of success in transportation maintenance contradict U.S. military claims that the bombing has greatly reduced movement of supplies to North Vietnamese units fighting in South Vietnam.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Roy Johnson of Warren, Ohio, finished first in the week-long National Parachuting Championships which concluded here Saturday to win a berth on the U.S. Parachute Team.

The team will represent the U.S. in competition with teams from at least 40 other countries in the world parachuting championship here Aug. 5-20.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's bid for increased weapons development under the U.S.-Soviet arms accord heads into House debate with opponents proposing a $1.6 billion cutback.

But although their amendments promised Congress' first debate on U.S. arms policy under the Moscow arms-limitation agreements, Nixon's House opponents did not expect to win any cuts in the arguments today or in voting Tuesday and Wednesday.

The amendments would cut all or most of the President's requests for the new guided-missile submarine, advanced B1 bomber and antimissile systems from the $21.3-billion weapons-authorization bill before the House.

"Do we build up to the limit of the agreements?" asked Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., in a report on some of the proposed cuts, "or do we take the President and Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev at their words that they agree the arms race should stop?"

But Nixon and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress last week its rejection of the new weapons would jeopardize U.S. security and destroy Soviet incentive for negotiating a fuller arms curb.

Nixon said Soviet incentive to negotiate a permanent limit on all nuclear weapons would be totally destroyed by U.S. failure to keep up with Soviet arms improvements permitted under the five-year interim agreement signed in Moscow.

Laird told senators he hopes the Trident submarine, B1 bomber and other new systems—after giving the Soviets incentive to renegotiate a permanent offensive-weapons curb—could be among the weapons bargained away or limited.

The $21.3-billion weapons bill already has been cut a net $582.4 million as a result of the Moscow accords, with a $92.4-million cut from the Safeguard antimissile system offset with a $110-million increase for offensive-weapons systems other than the Trident and B1 bomber.

Leggett's amendments would cut Nixon's $977-million request for Trident to $277 million to return it to last year's development schedule; cut Safeguard another $350 million, leaving $186 million research-and-development money for it; and cut all $140 million for a tighter radar defense around U.S. missile fields.

Monetary Leaders Meet; Seek Way To Resolve Crisis

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Finance and foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations are meeting in Luxembourg today to seek ways of resolving the new international monetary crisis touched off by Britain's floating of the pound. British Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber was to join them late today.

Their most immediate problem was the future of the agreement they made last spring with Britain and three Market members to keep the exchange rates on their currencies within a range of 2 1/2 per cent.

The agreement was intended to be the first step toward a unified monetary policy for the enlarged Common Market scheduled to come into being next Jan. 1, Britain, in setting the pound free last Friday to find its own level according to supply and demand, pulled out of the agreement, at least temporarily.

Among the possibilities being weighed today were:

—Retention of the 2 1/2-per cent limit on fluctuations in the Six's currencies against each other but floating all of them against the dollar.

—Devaluation of the weakest European currencies, including the Italian lira and the Danish kroner as well as the pound.

—Controls on the flow of capital in and out of the European countries, mostly by the huge international corporations whose unchecked currency transfers helped to cause the current crisis.

—Some compromise combination.

Hovey Says Democrats Watch Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic record on fiscal responsibility is better than the Republican one, Ohio Finance Director Harold Hovey said in a weekend statement.

Hovey was responding to statements Friday by House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Perryburg, that the Democratic administration of Gov. John J. Gilligan had been reckless in its spending particularly in welfare and education.

Kurfess "must seriously underestimate the intelligence of the Ohio voters if he thinks they will believe the statement he made about the Democrats being irresponsible spenders," Hovey said.

Hovey also accused Kurfess and other Republican legislators of supporting "bills which either reduce the state's income or increase spending by over $125 million."

"The governor is now facing the prospect of having to veto a large number of spending bills to keep the state from going bankrupt," Hovey said.

"Mr. Kurfess has personally voted for increased spending totalling nearly $30 million," Hovey added, "and the Republican leadership has not even suggested increasing the state's taxes to pay for their spending programs."

ports of loss of life or serious injury as a result, state officials said.

Damage to property and crop land are more difficult to assess.

Civil Defense headquarters in Columbus said an effort was underway "to see if individuals in the various areas affected can come up with a dollar tag. It will probably take a couple of days."

An aide to Gov. John Gilligan speculated the figure would top one million dollars.

West Virginia officials said a damage estimate to property on their side of the river would not be made until after the Ohio River returned to its bank.

In western Pennsylvania, authorities put an estimate of $45 million on damage from the flooding Ohio, Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

Neither West Virginia nor Pennsylvania reported any flood-related deaths.

By Sunday afternoon many of the 2,000 Ohioans evacuated from their homes in East Liv-

Irish Truce Near; Fight Continues

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops claimed they shot 14 guerrillas in gun battles Sunday as the cease-fire promised by the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army neared. Six other persons were killed during the weekend, raising Northern Ireland's death toll to at least 383 in three years of communal violence.

Three of the dead were British soldiers, killed when their truck hit a mine near Londonderry. Troops killed one gunman. The other two dead were a Protestant and a Roman Catholic, and there was speculation they were killed by assassination squads from the rival religious factions.

The worst outbreak came Sunday when at least 20 gunmen attacked the troops in Belfast. More than 700 rounds were fired.

"They have never been more reckless," one British officer reported. "It was almost suicidal the way they came at us."

But the guerrillas as usual carried away their casualties, and it was not known how many were killed and how many wounded.

Meanwhile a 200-pound bomb demolished a hotel in Lisburn, a 120-pound charge wrecked a bar in Strabane, bomb blasts destroyed two border customs posts and gunmen fired on a police station at Beelick for an hour. No casualties were reported in any of these attacks.

British officials feared the guerrillas planned to press the assault right up to midnight tonight, when the cease-fire was scheduled to begin.

McGovern Claims 1st-Ballot Nomination Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern said today he has received assurances of enough added support from blacks to assure him of a first-ballot nomination at the Democratic National Convention.

McGovern, Rep. Walter Fauntroy of the District of Columbia, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, and other black delegates to the convention told a news conference they have pulled together in the past several days 964 previously uncommitted delegate votes for the South Dakota senator.

"There is no question now," McGovern said, "that this is enough to put us over the top in July on the first ballot. It gives us a generous margin of 1 1/2," he said.

In return for the commitments of black delegates from 12 states and the District of Columbia, McGovern said he has assured black leaders that blacks would be appointed to federal judgeships and posts within a McGovern administration "in reasonable proportion" to their numbers in the population.

Fauntroy told newsmen the new McGovern delegate strength includes:

Alabama, 1 vote; Connecticut, 4; Louisiana, 14; Ohio, 8; Mississippi 16; Illinois, 5; Missouri 8; New Jersey 3; New York 2; Virginia 12;

South Carolina, 7; Georgia 6; and D.C. 124.

The figures added up to 984 rather than 964. There was no immediate explanation for the discrepancy.

The announcement culminated several days of meetings and long-distance telephone calls seeking the previously uncommitted black delegates.

At an earlier news conference this morning, Stokes, head of the congressional black caucus, said the new McGovern delegates appeared to insure a first-ballot victory.

"We are confident that our bloc of votes will assure Senator McGovern the nomination on the first ballot," Stokes said.

"Sen. McGovern has pledged to support and work for the goals outlined in the Bill of Rights of the Congressional Black Caucus," Stokes said at a news conference. "He has

"They have never been more reckless," one British officer reported. "It was almost suicidal the way they came at us."

But the guerrillas as usual carried away their casualties, and it was not known how many were killed and how many wounded.

Meanwhile a 200-pound bomb demolished a hotel in Lisburn, a 120-pound charge wrecked a bar in Strabane, bomb blasts destroyed two border customs posts and gunmen fired on a police station at Bealek for an hour. No casualties were reported in any of these attacks.

British officials feared the guerrillas planned to press the assault right up to midnight tonight, when the cease-fire was scheduled to begin.

Demo Platform Drafters Hit Foreign Policy Snags

WASHINGTON (AP) — First-draft planks of the Democratic 1972 platform called today for "an immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indochina" and took a middle-ground stand on the hot domestic issue of racial school busing.

Both planks, and perhaps as many as a dozen others, headed into floor fights as the full 150-member drafting committee convened for a two-day session open to press and public.

Challenges were expected from both right and left on the eight-plank platform drafted by a 15-member drafting subcommittee which itself could not agree on a defense spending plank.

It sent two versions to the floor, one demanding a strong military stance to deter aggressors and keep the confidence of allies, the other suggesting that cutbacks should be undertaken. The Vietnam plank denounced President Nixon's failure to make good on his 4-year-old promise of peace and declared that his Vietnamization program has been proved a delusion.

Spokesmen for Sen. George McGovern and Gov. George C. Wallace indicated that minority proposals would be introduced, precipitating floor fights at the drafting sessions of the full 150-member Platform Committee today and Tuesday.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma also urged platform drafters to revolt against their 15-member drafting subcommittee by demanding stronger tax reform and antitrust planks and a denunciation of strip mining.

A spokesman for Wallace said the Alabama governor considers the subcommittee's proposed busing plank—still not disclosed to the public or the full drafting committee—is unsatisfactory.

And a number of supporters of front-running Sen. McGovern reportedly felt aggrieved that the South Dakota's positions were inadequately reflected in the planks being drafted.

Sunday's draft planks called for a guaranteed job for everyone, plus replacement of the present welfare system by "an income-security program" providing federal payments to insure every family an income at or above the poverty level.

McGovern has urged a $1,000-per person income grant for the poor and elimination of the $750 personal income-tax deduction—plus tax reform aimed at corporations and affluent individuals.

City Police Investigating Rash Of Weekend Thefts

City police spent a busy weekend investigating five thefts, a morals case and a vandalism.

The Downtown Sohio service station on W. Main St. was entered early Sunday morning and $252 taken from two money boxes. A vending machine was also opened and $30 in change stolen.

Clyde Kohn, owner of the station, told police a fire broke out at his house, 113 N. Scioto St., 1:45 a.m. Sunday. While he was busy at the fire, a set of keys to the station were taken from the seat of his pickup truck.

The keys were used to gain entrance to the building and were found in the lock of the vending machine.

AN outside vending machine at the Shell Station, 325 W. Main St., was forced open and $5 in change was stolen Sunday morning.

Mrs. Hart, York St., told police she had stopped at Vic's Pizza 9:30 p.m. Sunday. While she was in the building, someone took her purse from her car.

Ralph Brown, 239 Nicholas Drive, reported the theft of his son's bicycle from his yard Friday night.

A lawn chair was taken from the yard at the Robert J. Hedges residence, 535 Lawn-wood Court, sometime Friday night.

Lester Davis, 53, 1229 Norfolk Ave., was arrested by city police 9:15 p.m. Saturday on charges of taking indecent and improper liberties with a 16-year-old boy.

The incident had occurred earlier Saturday. Davis was incarcerated in city jail on $2,500 bond.

Vandals cut the receiver cord at the public telephone booth at the junction of Route 56 and the Kingston Pike.

The crash of a helicopter on a surveying mission for the Army Corps of Engineers killed three persons Sunday, bringing the known death toll in New York to 23.

Police in Eldred, Pa., had their own problem — pleasure boats racing up and down flooded Main Street.

One policeman said the police can't cope with the problem. Away from the floods, a number of scattered thunderstorms were reported from Arkansas and northern Louisiana to Kansas and the Dakotas. One of the storms pelted Danbury, Neb., with golf-ball-sized hail, while pea-sized hail fell on Hays, Kan.

A funnel cloud was reported just south of McLaughlin in northern South Dakota.

A line of showers moved through the Pacific Northwest toward the Rockies. Nearly two-thirds of an inch of rain fell on Colville, Wash., during a six-hour period.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 88 degrees at Dallas, Tex., to 41 degrees at Evanston and Rock Springs, Wyo.

Flood

erpool, Bellaire, Clarington and Martins Ferry and other smaller towns along the Ohio River began retreating to face the tons of dirt and debris flood waters had left.

There were no state-enforced evacuations, and in those areas where evacuation was a necessity, departures were handled with a minimum of problems, Civil Defense officials said.

Fewer than 200 persons took advantage of shelters set up by the Red Cross and the Salvation Army in flood areas, they said.

Flooding appeared to be the worst near Steubenville and East Liverpool, where waters crested at between 43 to 45 feet, almost a dozen feet above flood stage. The river was receding in those areas Sunday at the rate of two-tenths of a foot per hour.

Some isolated flooding continued to disrupt the normal flow of people and traffic.

Open Letter
Dear Friends,
The funeral with the body present impresses the reality and finality of death upon the minds and emotions of the bereaved. Prominent psychologists consider this an essential procedure to safeguard the mental health. The showing of grief by family and friends, while the body lies in state, also aids the distraught survivors to accept and adjust to the reality of death.

Respectfully,

Luick Mader

Italy Given

New Government

Under Leone

ROME (AP) — Premier Giulio Andreotti presented his new center coalition cabinet to President Giovanni Leone today after 22 days of negotiations.

It is Italy's 34th postwar government and the first coalition in 10 years that does not include the Marxist Socialists.

Andreotti put together an alliance of his own Christian Democrats, Italy's largest party and the mainstay of every postwar government; the Democratic Socialists and the conservative Liberals.

Andreotti's previous government, an all-Christian Democrat minority cabinet, was defeated in Parliament last Feb. 22 after eight days in office.

Conservative Republicans Fight Legal Services Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative Republicans are mounting a drive to abolish the new independent corporation proposed to run the program of legal services for the poor.

Some Democrats say they see evidence of administration support for killing the corporation, despite President Nixon's stated backing for such an agency to run the embattled legal-services program.

Rep. William Brock, R-Tenn., is sponsoring an amendment to the $9.6-billion anti-poverty bill which would keep legal aid under the Office of Economic Opportunity, as it now operates. If the Brock amendment fails, other GOP senators will attempt numerous proposals to restrict the legal-service program. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., manager of the pending bill, and other backers say the separate corporation is needed to give the program permanent status and insulate it from political pressures.

They emphasize that the lawyers in the program will represent 1.2 million per clients this year.

An independent corporation for legal services was contained in an OEO-child-care bill vetoed by Nixon last December.

He objected chiefly to the child-care provisions but said also that the structure of the legal-services corporation was unacceptable because it was too independent of the White House.

Because of this criticism, the Senate Labor Committee, in working out the new bill, gave the president the unfettered right to name 10 of the 19 directors of the corporation.

However, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., has attacked the new provision, asserting it still would create an irresponsible corporation.

Dole cited a series of cases over the country in which he said legal-services lawyers had:

Operated a draft-counseling service; participated in radical movements aimed at police and local elected officials; engaged in voter-registration drives; been charged with embezzling federal funds, and attempted to create disturbances and foment resistance in the armed forces.

Sponsors say the new bill would correct those grievances.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

(Q) I owed $50 this year when I filed my Federal income tax return. Should I increase the amount of tax withheld from my pay?

(A) No. Because of recent changes in the tax law, the withholding tables make the amount of tax withheld for 1972 more closely match your tax liability for the year. In fact, many taxpayers should reduce their withholding and increase their take-home pay by filing a new Form W-4, Employees' Withholding Exemption Certificate, with their employer, claiming all the exemptions to which they are entitled.

(Q) It has been two months since I filed my return. When am I going to get my refund?

(A) If it has been at least 10 weeks since you sent in your return and you have received no word about it, then write the Internal Revenue Service Center where you sent your return. The Service Center will need to know approximately when your return was mailed, your Social Security number, the exact name and address shown on your return and your present address if different.

(A) Is there some way I can get a credit for gasoline I used in my boat?

(A) Yes. You can claim a credit against your income tax liability for a portion of the Federal tax on gasoline and lubricating oil you use for nonhighway purposes (in a boat, lawn mower, power saw, generator, etc.). The credit is two cents a gallon for the gasoline used and six cents a gallon for the lubricating oil. You claim the credit by filing Form 4136 with your Form 1040 for the year. For more information, see Publication 378, "Federal Fuel Tax Credit or Refund for Nonhighway and Transit Users," available free from your local Internal Revenue Service office.

(Q) Can I deduct as a charitable contribution tuition paid to send my child to a parochial school?

(A) No. Tuition or amounts in place of tuition are payments for services rendered and are not deductible as contributions, even though paid to parochial schools.

(Q) I received an automatic two-month extension of time to file my return. Will I be charged interest on any taxes I owe?

(A) Yes. Interest at an annual rate of six per cent will be charged on unpaid tax from the original due date of the return.

Martha Mitchell Determined To Get John Out Of Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Mitchell says the election campaign "is nothing but a cops and robbers game, and I'm trying to get my husband out of it."

The wife of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell flew in from California Sunday and told the New York Daily News in an interview, "All I want is my husband back."

"There is no reason for us to be involved in politics," she told reporter Marcia Kramer in an interview at her two-room suite at the Westchester Country Club in Rye, N.Y.

Mrs. Mitchell's husband left the Cabinet to head the Committee to Re-elect the President.

She declined to talk about the "dirty things" she knew about politics, but was voluble about her dispute with a security guard that she said led her to leave her Newport Beach, Calif., villa.

She said the guard yanked the telephone out of her bedroom: "It was a horrible experience. Can you believe that a man can walk into your bedroom, take over, and pull the phone out of the wall?"

Mrs. Mitchell said she left for the East after an incident in which several guards "threw me down on a bed — five men did it — and stuck a needle in my behind. I've never been treated like this, ever."

Wearing a rumpled yellow linen pants suit and no makeup, she displayed bandages on the ring and middle fingers of the left hand where she said a physician had stitched up cuts suffered when she was "beaten up."

WHS Reschedules Band Practices

Westfal band practice originally scheduled Thursday has been postponed until July 3, director Jim Kibby announced today.

Kibby asked all band members to assemble for practice from 7 to 8:30 p.m. next Monday. He also invited last year's seniors to attend.

The band has accepted invitations to perform at two Independence Day parades — at 11 a.m. at Ashville's festival and a 9 p.m. evening parade at Bexley, both on July 4th.

TV Stars Head Kenley's New Play

KAREN VALENTINE

Two popular television personalities join veteran film star Don Ameche in the controversial romantic comedy, "The Moon is Blue" in the Kenley Players' summer stage series at Veterans Memorial beginning Tuesday and running through Sunday.

Karen Valentine, of "Room 222", and John Saxon, handsome star of "The Bold Ones," star in the Hugh Herbert play.

When first presented "The Moon is Blue" ran into censorship bans. When made into a motion picture, it was considered a daring departure. Today there is little possibility of shock. On the contrary, it should amuse everyone.

"The Moon is Blue" is the story of a modern young miss who meets two swinging bachelors — one young and handsome and the other not so nice and not so young. How she manages to fend off unwelcome attentions and get what she wants makes up the fun and romance.

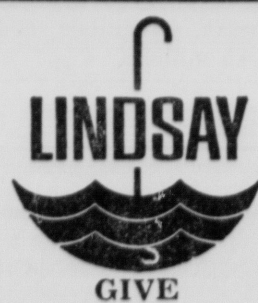

Show times Tuesday through Saturday evenings are at 8:30. Sunday evening curtain is at 7:30. Saturday and Sunday matinees begin at 2:45.

Panel Mum On Debate Over Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The politically delicate issue of food prices has silenced the Price Commission after an apparent rift with the White House.

The commission, meeting in closed session for more than four hours in an unusual Tuesday session, declined to tell reporters anything about the meeting.

"I will speak on the record when I think I should and I won't speak on the record when I think I shouldn't," Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson told reporters who went to his office for comment.

Grayson apologized for the refusal to comment, but said the seven member commission reached a consensus that nothing should be said.

There were reports earlier last week that the commission was going to discuss a temporary freeze on meat prices. This was discussed at a meeting last Wednesday, but the next day President Nixon told reporters he is considering lifting import quotas on meat to increase the supply as a way to halt the spiral in food prices.

The commission urged the President and the Cost of Living Council to take quick action on the food price issue, but the White House and the council delayed any decision. And spokesmen indicated that the White House was angry because the commission made its recommendations public.

The Cost of Living Council, meantime, is considering options for reviewing controls on food at the request of the White House. There has been no indication on when a decision will be made.

Juvenile Trio Arrested For Damage

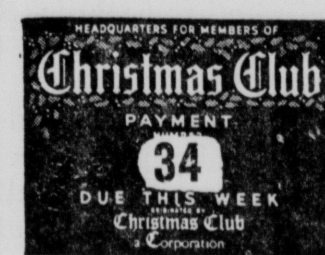

Three boys 11, 12, and 13 years of age, are scheduled to appear in Juvenile Court Monday to answer malicious destruction of property charges filed by Deputy Sheriff Phil Brown Saturday.

The charges stem from Brown's investigation of school vandalism at the Monroe Twp. school between 2:30 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Saturday. The youths apparently shattered 11 small windows and 13 larger ones, all valued at $30.

School janitor, Clyde Neff, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, reported the damage.

Monetary Values

Despite recent monetary agreements which, among other changes, resulted in deflation of the dollar, the monetary situation for the long run remains unsettled.

Negotiations of some kind between the major trading nations during the next several years seem assured, if only to attempt to stave off emergency readjustments made under the threat of crisis.

The Bretton Woods agreement of 1944, which is the last formal monetary arrangement, has been at least partly superseded by the less formal adjustments made by a number of countries in the wake of the dollar crisis.

Formalizing monetary exchange rates in the light of current conditions is seen by some as unavoidable in the near future. What form new agreements should take, however, already is the subject for much dissension.

Advocates of both fixed rates of exchange and floating rates are promoting their respective viewpoints. Bretton Woods was a fixed rate, but it provided for periodic reviews and adjustments. Unfortunately, the reviews did not come frequently enough and the par values established at that conference became almost unchangeable except under dire circumstances.

Whatever mechanism emerges at the next monetary conference, some controls need to be included to insure that it works as designed.

Poor Drivers

A safety expert the other day made a statement about auto drivers which should challenge the thought of every motorist. He gave it as his studied opinion that only 25 per cent of those who drove automobiles were capable operators. He said the other three-fourths either lacked proper instruction or the natural instincts necessary to drive a car under modern conditions.

If drivers were as qualified and as careful as the 25 per cent the expert said could pass as good drivers, the auto death toll would be greatly reduced. Today not even the best drivers can go out on the highways with complete assurance. A fool on the road can put all the others on the spot.

A qualified driver keeps his car in good operating condition and guards against road and weather hazards. No factory turns its machines over to untrained operators.

Put thousands of motor vehicles skimming over the highways, hands on the wheels those of persons who have never really learned to drive. And thousands die as a result.

Wallace Could Be The Key

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

If the future of the country were not involved, the politicking among the Democrats would be funny beyond the dreams of an H. L. Mencken, who thought of conventions as a substitute for Minsky's burlesque. Most of the Democratic governors, and a fair proportion of the party's Congressmen, are scared to death that a McGovern ticket, even if "balanced" by Wilbur Mills for Vice President, will be snowed under by Richard Nixon. Yet, as two-toned promiser George McGovern has gone about collecting his delegates by promising to mulct the rich, and grabbing large sums from the fat cats by promising them immunity via a Wall Street Journal ad from his first set of promises, nobody seems to have the nerve to do anything about it. Promises, promises!

There is an air of most abject fatalism about it all. It's not only that McGovern has won the big ones; it's that he has so consistently picked up the small change in delegate allocation in states that he most assuredly will lose in November. Two delegates in South Carolina, for example, and five in Alabama. Eight in Georgia, 14 in Mississippi. Some 40 out of 130 in Texas. Eight in Senator Henry Jackson's own state of Washington. They all add up.

A united front of his opponents at Miami Beach might still deny McGovern the 1,509 votes he needs to win. But the fact is that two-tones George McGovern has a lot of equally two-toned opponents who must have last consulted the meaning of the word "steadfast" when they were doing English themes in junior high. Hubert Humphrey has been two-toned on the Vietnamese War, two-toned on revolution in the slums, two-toned on big spending for welfare.

Wilbur Mills has been two-toned on radicalism: McGovern makes him uneasy, but equally radical Teddy Kennedy, whose followers have provided the brains and manpower for the McGovern movement, does not. Ed Muskie, the common man's cut-rate Abe Lincoln who once keyed a race for governor in Maine by chiding the papers for calling him the candidate of the CIO, has been all over the lot.

How does anyone expect to get unified high resolve from such a band of chronic equivocators and artists in tergiversation? How indeed?

The only man who could possibly put an iron into a Stop-McGovern movement is George Wallace, but can anyone visualize Hubert Humphrey, Ed Muskie and Wilbur Mills making common agreement to deal with a man who, through no fault of his own, has had to yield his old-time feisty quality? What Wallace had going for him before he was stricken was the prospect that he might walk out of the convention if he didn't have his way on key issues that could not possibly have been compromised by McGovern's more fervid Left ideologues?

A sound and mobile Wallace might have frightened the Humphreys, the Muskies, and the Millses into holding out against McGovern to the end. But if Wallace goes to Miami Beach acting as an object of sympathy and not as an object of fear, will any one believe that a last-minute threat to deliver Wallace supporters to Richard Nixon is forthcoming? The fact that the question can be asked can cause fatal irresolution.

George Wallace, while lying in the hospital, has been the object of extremely subtle flattery. One need not question the motives of his distinguished visitors: and Ethel Kennedy, coming to see a fightfully injured man, would naturally be thinking of what had happened to her husband under similar circumstances. But as the Larry O'Briens and the Hubert Humphreys moved through the Wallace sick room, the symbolism was unmistakable. Prominent Democrats were "sending a message," and it read: "George, we can let bygones be bygones, we're all Democrats together."

What will be the result of this subtle fraternization when the principals move to Miami Beach? It must remain a riddle, depending on the mysteries of the recuperative process. A Wallace who is convinced that he will some day walk again, or at least be able to stand before his fellow citizens as Franklin Roosevelt once stood in his cruel braces, might act one way. A fatalistic Wallace might act another. We won't know until we see, but what we do know is that George Wallace is the key. If he's still the old Wallace there could yet be blood on the floor.

According To Boyle

By WES COOK (For Hal Boyle)

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Just got the news by telephone from El Paso that someone put a headstone on John Wesley Hardin's grave at last.

And it was about time! It seemed like Wes would go through eternity without a monument. It took three-quarters of a century to get the bit of gray granite put there.

Our favorite city—geographically and in spirit—says that some of Wes' relatives installed the headstone.

The marker contains only Wes' name and date of birth and death. The headstone and a marker at the spot where he was killed are the only physical recognition that Wes, otherwise known as Little Arkansas, ever existed. Yet his name is spread throughout any book dealing with Western badmen.

He holds the title of Texas' worst killer.

Most authorities count Hardin's murders at 43, all of them without any visible reason even by the somewhat loose reasoning of Western badmen.

Hardin possessed a flaring temper and generally killed without considering the matter at all.

Biographers say Wes' career began when he was a teen-ager hanging round Bonham. He and a huge bully argued. Wes went home and got the family sixshooter and killed the man.

Shortly thereafter, the McKinney sheriff tried to arrest Hardin and Wes killed him. That really gave him the reputation of owning a hot gun. Hardin got 25 years in prison for killing a deputy sheriff in 1874, but he was pardoned in 1893. Then came the incident in the Acme saloon in El Paso on Aug. 19, 1895.

An 11-year-old Western Union boy name Jack delivered a telegram to Wesley at the saloon.

Wes tipped the boy put his hand on the youngster's head and pointed to a glass of whiskey.

"Son, you see that? Take my advice and don't ever touch that stuff. It'll get you into trouble every time." Moments later, John Selman, cattle rustler, gunman and ex-constable, slipped behind Hardin and shot him in the head, then shot him twice more as he lay on the floor.

That event made a strong impression on Jack.

In fact, he decided on the calmer career of education.

Jack grew up to become president of what now is Texas Women's University at Denton, serving from 1926 through 1950. He is L. H. "Jack" Hubbard. The virtues of leading a calmer life are apparent. Dr. Hubbard now is 92 years old. Little Arkansas died at 42.

Wilbur Mills has been two-toned on radicalism: McGovern makes him uneasy, but equally radical Teddy Kennedy, whose followers have provided the brains and manpower for the McGovern movement, does not. Ed Muskie, the common man's cut-rate Abe Lincoln who once keyed a race for governor in Maine by chiding the papers for calling him the candidate of the CIO, has been all over the lot.

How does anyone expect to get unified high resolve from such a band of chronic equivocators and artists in tergiversation? How indeed? The only man who could possibly put an iron into a Stop-McGovern movement is George Wallace, but can anyone visualize Hubert Humphrey, Ed Muskie and Wilbur Mills making common agreement to deal with a man who, through no fault of his own, has had to yield his old-time feisty quality? What Wallace had going for him before he was stricken was the prospect that he might walk out of the convention if he didn't have his way on key issues that could not possibly have been compromised by McGovern's more fervid Left ideologues?

A sound and mobile Wallace might have frightened the Humphreys, the Muskies, and the Millses into holding out against McGovern to the end. But if Wallace goes to Miami Beach acting as an object of sympathy and not as an object of fear, will any one believe that a last-minute threat to deliver Wallace supporters to Richard Nixon is forthcoming? The fact that the question can be asked can cause fatal irresolution.

George Wallace, while lying in the hospital, has been the object of extremely subtle flattery. One need not question the motives of his distinguished visitors: and Ethel Kennedy, coming to see a fightily injured man, would naturally be thinking of what had happened to her husband under similar circumstances. But as the Larry O'Briens and the Hubert Humphreys moved through the Wallace sick room, the symbolism was unmistakable. Prominent Democrats were "sending a message," and it read: "George, we can let bygones be bygones, we're all Democrats together."

What will be the result of this subtle fraternization when the principals move to Miami Beach? It must remain a riddle, depending on the mysteries of the recuperative process. A Wallace who is convinced that he will some day walk again, or at least be able to stand before his fellow citizens as Franklin Roosevelt once stood in his cruel braces, might act one way. A fatalistic Wallace might act another. We won't know until we see, but what we do know is that George Wallace is the key. If he's still the old Wallace there could yet be blood on the floor.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

In a fit of anger, I slapped my teen-age daughter. Soon after, her ear began to bleed.

My guilt knows no limits. But my greatest worry is that I might have injured her ear drum permanently.

Mr. R. N. B., Tex.

Dear Mr. B: Many times a slap over the ear will cause a "blast" effect and injure the eardrum.

The first evidence of it is some blood in the ear canal. Hearing is immediately impaired.

Almost always, the injury to the eardrum is temporary. Within a few weeks the ear usually returns to normal.

I assume that your daughter has been examined by a doctor or an ear specialist. This is imperative.

Often people are ashamed to admit how such an injury occurred and will avoid getting the opinion and treatment by a doctor.

Physicians do not stand in moral judgment of such situations and certainly would not reveal to anyone how such an injury occurred.

The chances are very great that the only residue will be your daughter's hurt feelings and your own personal guilt. Both of these can be remedied by a respectful talk about the differences that precipitated the unpleasant situation.

Are salt tablets effective in keeping cool in very hot weather?

Miss H.L.R., La.

Dear Miss R.: Salt itself does not keep the body cool. Yet does serve an important function during periods of great physical exertion.

Salt is sodium chloride, or NaCl. The Na, or sodium, has a special affinity for retaining water in the body. The water balance is very important to normal health functioning of the body.

Both salt and fluid are rapidly lost in perspiration when exercising or working in hot weather. Both should be replenished to maintain that water balance.

Some time ago, the United States Army Medical Department suggested that the best way to keep cool and comfortable in desert and jungle areas was a shower or bath in tepid or lukewarm water.

It was found that the water helped the body's own cooling system to work better in extreme climates.

Additional comfort can be gained by increasing moderately the fluid intake, avoiding alcoholic beverages.

A light diet is advantageous. Most important is not to over extend one's physical capacity during periods of excessive heat.

Salt tablets, taken in moderation, when prescribed by a doctor, can be helpful.

Society Telethon To Air Here Wednesday Night

This Wednesday, June 28, has been named Scioto Society Day in a proclamation signed by Mayor Frank Barnhill.

The evening broadcast, beginning at 7 p.m., will be carried over all the radio stations in Pickaway, Pike and Ross Counties. It will be aired from the Telcom studio in Chillicothe.

During the program, facts and information about the Society amphitheatre and historical drama will be presented, with a pre-recorded interview with the author of the play, Allan Eckert.

Scioto Society has worked two years to bring about this point in the development of drama revealing the history of the Ohio Country when the white man and an Indian disputed each other's claim to the fertile land. The story centers on the Shawnee chief, Tecumseh, who united the Indians for the memorable clash between the two races.

THE main purpose of the telethon is to raise money for continued operation, costs and play production until the amphitheatre opens next summer.

During the broadcast program the Society will accept donations of $25 from callers which will purchase one of the 1,000 seats for the amphitheatre which will be inscribed with the donors name. The seat will not belong to the donor — rather it is intended as a memorial.

Individuals will be asked to donate any amount if they are not able to give $25.

Projections of the amphitheatre show that it will bring an increase in jobs and businesses, plus tourist trade through Pike, Ross and Pickaway Counties, offering all area communities cultural, economic and educational benefits.

Donations of any amount will aid in promoting this regional project. There is also available a three-year pledge program which allows every donor to make a maximum investment at minimum personal inconvenience.

During the hours of the telethon, the local radio station will accept calls from persons wishing to donate. There is also a standing committee, headed by Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. William Radcliff, who are handling Pickaway County's fund raising campaign. On Wednesday, though, all calls concerning donations should be made to the radio station.

Let's Tour Ohio Attractions Outstanding For Akron Area Tour

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Auto Club Travel Department for the Herald.

Akron, "Rubber Capital of the World," has attractions which will appeal to a wide range of interests.

Jonathon Hale Homestead, the oldest brick home in the area, houses a fine museum.

Blossom Music Center, a short distance away, is the summer home for the Cleveland Orchestra. The $6.6 million pavilion is acclaimed as an architectural triumph, with perfect acoustics and unobstructed sightlines.

The pavilion seats 4,600 under cover and an additional 10,000 on the lawns. Programs include everything from the classics to Broadway and young people's programs.

Railways of America museum, off Ohio route 8, contains a working model electric railroad with over 1,000 cars, some dating back to 1830.

Stan Hywet Hall is considered one of the finest examples of English Tudor architecture in the United States. Built in 1911-1915 by Frank A. Seiberling, founder of Goodyear and Seiberling Rubber companies, this 65-room manor house has 33 rooms which are open to visitors during the guided tour. Furnishings are antiques and art dating from the 14th to 18th centuries.

Equally outstanding are the grounds of Stan Hywet, with terraces, statuary, pools and gardens. A rose garden, sunken English walled garden and Japanese garden boast rare specimens.

Other nearby attractions are the Perkins Mansion, built in 1831 by Gen. Simon Perkins, founder of Akron, and the John Brown House in which abolitionist John Brown lived for two years.

The 10 acre Akron Children's Zoo has many exhibits based on Mother Goose rhymes. Almost all the animals can be handed, and many wander freely over the grounds.

The AAA Club suggests this routing to the tour area: From Circleville, go north on US 23 to junction I-270; use the west leg of the outerbelt (I-270) to junction I-71; north on I-71 to junction I-80S; east on I-80S to the tour area.

Consumer Funds Cut For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Expressing concern for taxpayers, the Republican-dominated Ohio Controlling Board Friday cut back funds for the protection of consumers.

The board released $175,000 to the attorney general's office and $265,000 to the Commerce Department to be used to set up consumer protection divisions in the two agencies.

They had requested $333,167 and $481,000, respectively.

"We are a little concerned we might be setting up something with two agencies going after the same thing and costing the taxpayers more money in the process," Rep. Fred Young, R-84 Dayton, said.

The money, from the state's Emergency Fund, will cover operations of each division only through 1972.

Creation of the divisions was authorized by the Ohio Consumer Sales Practices Act passed by the legislature last year.

The vote for reduction of the allocation was 4-3 along party lines. The original requests were turned down at the Controlling Board's last meeting June 12.

Findlay Woman On Demo Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an apparent move for equal rights for women and youth, the Democratic Platform Committee Friday elected Cathy Wilch, 21, of Findlay, Ohio, as one of its four "vice-chairpersons."

Mrs. Wilch, a free-lance writer, is a delegate for Sen. George McGovern to the Democratic National Committee.

She was active in Gov. John Gilligan's 1969 election campaign and former Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy's unsuccessful bid for the presidency in 1968.

Demo Credentials Fight Could Hurt McGovern

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Convention's Credentials Committee is wading into a massive round of delegate challenges that loom as the most critical hurdle left in George McGovern's path to the nomination.

In what may be the severest test yet of the party's sweeping reform rules—many of which were promulgated by Mc-

Govern—the panel must weigh a record 80 challenges affecting delegations from 30 states.

"McGovern's interest now," said his committee coordinator, Eli Segal, "is in a peaceful and harmonious convention. Credentials has the most potential for trouble."

Although McGovern strategists were working feverishly to minimize conflicts in the seating of delegates, several cases pose an inescapable dilemma to his followers who control the Credentials Committee.

By refusing to compromise McGovern's reform ideals, they could alienate Old Guard Democrats in Illinois and several other states whose support could prove vital to his chances against President Nixon. If, on the other hand, they gloss over reform violations, they risk imperiling his credibility among liberals, blacks, women and youth.

Moreover, in a challenge in California, any ruling favorable to those who contend the state's winner-take-all primary violated prohibitions against unit rule could cost McGovern his shot at a first-ballot nomination. He now claims all 271 California delegates, whose case will be heard today but likely not decided until late this week or early next.

McGovern's forces offered something of a unity concession Sunday night at the committee's organizing meeting, when they joined in the unanimous elevation of Patricia Harris, a black Washington attorney, from temporary to permanent chairman. They had opposed her original appointment several months ago on grounds she was not enthusiastic enough in her commitments to reform.

But at the same time, the committee's choice for vice chairman served as a portent that it may not be in a compromising mood.

Hodding Carter, a challenged delegate from Greenville, Miss., got the post upon the nomination of McGovern's California contingent, Carter, a journalist who, as his father was, long been aligned with the civil-rights movement in the South, is a "Loyalist" Democrat whose delegation is being contested by Mississippi regulars led by Gov. William Waller.

Most of the challenges—which the committee will hear one case at a time in the next two weeks—are being lodged under reforms aimed at making the convention more representative of women and minority groups and reducing the control of party bosses.

The current lineup shows 37 per cent of the delegates are women, 22 per cent are under 30 years of age and 15 per cent are black. Nearly 90 per cent are attending their first convention, as compared to 55 per cent in 1968. But the challengers contend that's not enough.

Social Security Answers

Q. When I got married recently I wrote my new name on my social security card. Should I do anything else?

A. Yes. You need to fill out a form to change your name on your social security record kept in Baltimore, Maryland. You can get the form from any social security office. After you send it to us, we'll mail you a new social security card showing your new name and the same number you were originally issued.

A. I'm receiving monthly disability payments from social security. If I continue to get disability benefits for 5 or 6 years before I recover and return to work, would my retirement payments at 65 be less because I was disabled and unable to work?

A. No, your retirement benefits would not be reduced because you were disabled. Furthermore, the years while you were disabled will not be used in figuring your retirement benefits later. This gives you the advantage of retaining a high yearly average of earnings.

Q. My mother, who was 68 years old, died last month. Since I paid some of her doctor bills, could I receive any payment from Medicare for these bills?

A. You could receive partial reimbursement. You should ask the doctor for a receipt showing you paid the bills in full and the date, place, charge for, and description of each service. Call any social security office for help in completing a claim for payment.

Q. After applying for social security retirement payments at 65, I returned to work. Will the wages from this work increase my monthly cash payments when I decide to finally retire?

A. Possibly. If you earn enough to increase the average earnings used to figure your retirement payment, your cash payments could increase. Any increase would be figured automatically in the year following the year of additional earnings, and the increase would be retroactive to the first of the year following the year in which the earnings occurred.

Deputies Probe Two Weekend Grand Thefts

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are looking for burglars who took auto parts from Deercreek Auto Parts and antiques from a Clark's Lake home. Both thefts occurred between late Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Lloyd Lee, 567 Renick Ave., a salesman at the Auto Parts store near Williamsport, told deputies that thieves gained entrance to the building by pulling sheet metal siding from walls.

Once inside, they removed $130 in auto parts from a wrecked sports car.

Mrs. Marvin Custer, Clark's Lake, reported that she left her unlocked house between 11 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday.

When she returned a Seth Thomas clock, valued at $75, and a pitcher and bowl, valued at $50, were missing.

Ferry Race Aids Needy

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP) — An estimated 25,000 persons turned out Sunday for activities highlighted by a ferry boat race to raise money for the Neediest Kids of All and the Resident Home for the Mentally Retarded.

One official said it was a "fantastic success," especially "when you consider the kind of weather we've been having."

The New Richmond Ferry, piloted by Capt. Bill Fischer, took the lead at the beginning from the Anderson Ferry, piloted by Capt. Richard Kottmeyer, and won by about one and a half boat lengths, about 150 feet.

The event, sponsored by the WKRC stations of Cincinnati, featured a football game between the Playboy Bunnies and members of the Cincinnati Bengals, skydiving, an antique car parade, rock bands, puppet shows and barbershop quartets.

The amount of money raised was not immediately known.

Insurance Firm Urges Defensive Parking

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — About 11.3 per cent of the nation's 16 million automobile accidents during 1971 involved parked cars, says the Hartford, automobile insurer.

The company says motorists should park defensively.

Don't park near delivery areas.

Don't park close to road or building construction.

Double parking always invites trouble.

Center the car in the parking space.

Don't park too close to a corner or driveway.

Park facing the direction of the traffic.

Don't block or crowd other vehicles.

When parking on an incline, turn front wheels toward the curb, so they can act as a wedge.

Ohio Couple Makes It To Wedding

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — They arrived for their son's weekend wedding without presents and in borrowed clothes, but the Burkhardts of Crestline, Ohio made it, and that's really all they were worried about.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Burkhardt were among 101 passengers aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727 jetliner that was hijacked Friday on a flight from St. Louis to Tulsa.

Burkhardt said his first reaction to the announcement by the plane's captain that they were being hijacked was to get up and leave.

"But you can't get out and walk at 28,000 feet," he said Saturday waiting in a pew of the church for the start of the wedding ceremonies.

The hijacker wouldn't let anyone take anything off the plane when he released most of the passengers back in St. Louis, Mrs. Burkhardt said, "so we just took off."

The wedding presents, they said, could wait. They attended the service in borrowed clothing.

Q. When I got married recently I wrote my new name on my social security card. Should I do anything else?

A. Yes. You need to fill out a form to change your name on your social security record kept in Baltimore, Maryland. You can get the form from any social security office. After you send it to us, we'll mail you a new social security card showing your new name and the same number you were originally issued.

A. I'm receiving monthly disability payments from social security. If I continue to get disability benefits for 5 or 6 years before I recover and return to work, would my retirement payments at 65 be less because I was disabled and unable to work?

A. No, your retirement benefits would not be reduced because you were disabled. Furthermore, the years while you were disabled will not be used in figuring your retirement benefits later. This gives you the advantage of retaining a high yearly average of earnings.

Q. My mother, who was 68 years old, died last month. Since I paid some of her doctor bills, could I receive any payment from Medicare for these bills?

A. You could receive partial reimbursement. You should ask the doctor for a receipt showing you paid the bills in full and the date, place, charge for, and description of each service. Call any social security office for help in completing a claim for payment.

Q. After applying for social security retirement payments at 65, I returned to work. Will the wages from this work increase my monthly cash payments when I decide to finally retire?

A. Possibly. If you earn enough to increase the average earnings used to figure your retirement payment, your cash payments could increase. Any increase would be figured automatically in the year following the year of additional earnings, and the increase would be retroactive to the first of the year following the year in which the earnings occurred.

Deputies Probe Two Weekend Grand Theft

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are looking for burglars who took auto parts from Deercreek Auto Parts and antiques from a Clark's Lake home. Both thefts occurred between late Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Lloyd Lee, 567 Renick Ave., a salesman at the Auto Parts store near Williamsport, told deputies that thieves gained entrance to the building by pulling sheet metal siding from walls.

Once inside, they removed $130 in auto parts from a wrecked sports car.

Mrs. Marvin Custer, Clark's Lake, reported that she left her unlocked house between 11 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday.

When she returned a Seth-Thomas clock, valued at $75, and a pitcher and bowl, valued at $50, were missing.

Insurance Firm Urges Defensive Parking

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—About 11.3 per cent of the nation's 16 million automobile accidents during 1971 involved parked cars, says the Hartford, automobile insurer.

The company says motorists should park defensively.

Don't park near delivery areas.

Don't park close to road or building construction.

Double parking always invites trouble.

Center the car in the parking space.

Don't park too close to a corner or driveway.

Park facing the direction of the traffic.

Don't block or crowd other vehicles.

When parking on an incline, turn front wheels toward the curb, so they can act as a wedge.

Ferry Race Aids Needy

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP)—An estimated 25,000 persons turned out Sunday for activities highlighted by a ferry boat race to raise money for the Neediest Kids of All and the Resident Home for the Mentally Retarded.

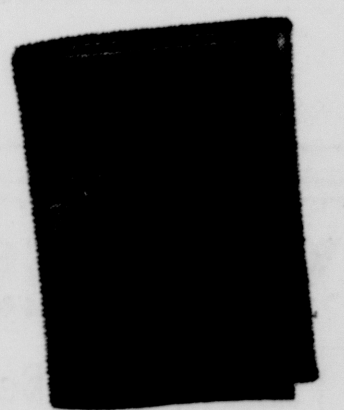

One official said it was a "fantastic success," especially "when you consider the kind of weather we've been having."

The New Richmond Ferry, piloted by Capt. Bill Fischer, took the lead at the beginning from the Anderson Ferry, piloted by Capt. Richard Kottmeyer, and won by about one and a half boat lengths, about 150 feet.

The event, sponsored by the WKRC stations of Cincinnati, featured a football game between the Playboy Bunnies and members of the Cincinnati Bengals, skydiving, an antique car parade, rock bands, puppet shows and barbershop quartets.

The amount of money raised was not immediately known.

Ohio Couple Makes It To Wedding

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—They arrived for their son's weekend wedding without presents and in borrowed clothes, but the Burkhardts of Crestline, Ohio made it, and that's really all they were worried about.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Burkhardt were among 101 passengers aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727 jetliner that was hijacked Friday on a flight from St. Louis to Tulsa.

Burkhardt said his first reaction to the announcement by the plane's captain that they were being hijacked was to get up and leave.

"But you can't get out and walk at 28,000 feet," he said Saturday waiting in a pew of the church for the start of the wedding ceremonies.

The hijacker wouldn't let anyone take anything off the plane when he released most of the passengers back in St. Louis, Mrs. Burkhardt said, "so we just took off."

The wedding presents, they said, could wait. They attended the service in borrowed clothing.

Some people can really talk you
to death.

Drivers who insist on facing their audience while they talk—instead of the road ahead—can be deadly bores. Even their funny stories can turn tragic in a hurry. A punch line can be killed instantly by a car that stops suddenly, an intersection, a curve in the road. By anything that gets in the way.

No one is safe with drivers like this. Neither passengers or people in other cars...nor pedestrians. If you know someone who has this deadly habit, think about the consequences.

Straighten him out or refuse to ride with him. Your new car dealer wants to see our highways safe. And more important, he wants to see you safe, whether you're behind the wheel or just a passenger.

So join the battle against careless talkers. Help them face their tremendous responsibilities—and the road ahead—and all their stories will wind up with a happy ending.

EDITOR'S NOTE: During Cynthia Lowry's vacation, the column is being written by invited guests, each of whom was asked to respond to specific questions about some area of television. Here is the report of the star of "The New Dick Van Dyke Show," the CBS success that broke all the rules by moving the entire production operation hundreds of miles away from Hollywood to a studio near the star's desert home. The series also completes a full season's quota of programs before most other series even start production for the following fall.

By DICK VAN DYKE

Q. What, precisely, are the advantages and disadvantages of producing a series in the Arizona desert?

A. "I've got to Carefree, Arizona? Where's THAT?"

That is the question asked with predictable regularity by actors, writers and technicians who have been signed to do a segment of the show, filmed out here just minutes from my home in another megalopolis, Cave Creek.

I'll get the geographical fix out of the way right off the bat: Cave Creek is Heaven, or as close to Heaven as I'm likely to find within driving distance of a television studio.

It's quite a way from Hollywood, which means that most of the crew and all of the guest stars have to commute from smog-bound Los Angeles to the emptiness of the Arizona desert.

We've lost a few actors who can't stand the desert; I guess there's a certain kind of person who chokes on fresh air. But the people we do get are usually so enthused over the location that they come to work feeling great. Fannie Flagg bought herself a town house out here. Hope Lange has enrolled her children in an Arizona school so she doesn't have to commute to Smogville every weekend.

I think it's the happiest and most relaxed set I've ever worked on and I think it has a lot to do with being so far from the pressures of Hollywood.

Of course, being so far does pose some problems. We're hundreds of miles from the nearest spare part. If anything major should break down, we've got a one-or-two-day wait to face, and in TV, time is money. So far we've been lucky.

Q. Has the early production schedule worked well?

A. Shooting the whole season before the first segment airs

It was among six motions filed by Bremer's court-appointed attorney Benjamin Lipsitz of Baltimore, on the federal charges of shooting Wallace and a Secret Service bodyguard, Nicholas Zarvos, May 15 and two counts of violating federal gun laws.

Guest Day Luncheon Held By Pickaway Plains DAR

Pickaway Plains Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held its annual Guest Day Luncheon on Tuesday at the Wardell Party Home.

State historian, Mrs. C. Gray Hussey of Columbus was guest speaker using as her topic, "The American Flag." She said the American flag is a symbol of our country and the principles upon which our nation was founded. The flag represents each battle and veteran living or dead. The flag needs our respect and support. As Daughters of the American Revolution and as patriotic citizens it is a duty to call attention to the abuse of our flag.

As good Americans one should be grateful to live in America and to enjoy the blessings of the freedom and liberties that have been handed down by forefathers. She said we express this gratitude when we show respect to the flag. Mrs. Hussey asked the chapter to make contributions to the American Room in Constitution Hall, the DAR headquarters in Washington D.C.

Mrs. Donald Watt, registrar, introduced two new members, Mrs. Lawrence Liston of Circleville and Miss Pamela Jo Brown.

Mrs. Joseph Peters, regent, greeted Brenda J. Bolender, a sixth grade pupil of Washington Twp. School as a winner in the State's American History Month Essay Contest. Mrs. Peters announced that Brenda had also won first place in the East Central Division. Brenda's sister, Barbara Bolender, an eighth grade pupil in Washington Twp. School, had also won in the State Contest.

Q. Has the early production schedule worked well?

A. Shooting the whole season before the first segment airs means we can't respond to audience reaction to our early episodes, as most shows do. But I think we've worked it out. For one thing, we have our live audiences every week and we learn a lot from them. For another, this is our second season and we're still responding to the things we learned in our first.

Perhaps the most important thing we learned was that people want us to use more of the "new freedom" that is now possible in situation comedies. This year we're trying to go more deeply and truthfully into human relationships.

According to Aldaz, there will be below-average rainfall in the northeast from 1971-1980. But rainfall will gradually increase during the following decade, reaching a high point around 1986, he predicted.
Based on these forecasts and existing weather records in Brazil, there should not be a serious drought in the northeast before 1990, Aldaz said.
Before 1970, the last major northeast drought was in 1958.

Helicopter Aids Plane Search On Ohio River
RABBIT HASH, Ky. (AP) — Boone County police said a helicopter was to be called in today to search for a light plane which crashed Sunday night between this small city and Rising Sun, Ind.
Authorities said the search had been called off late Sunday night and was to be resumed today. They said witnesses had reported seeing pieces of a plane falling into the Ohio River and on a nearby farm.
Several persons in Kentucky and Indiana reported they saw a flash and heard an explosion about 6:45 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Rising Sun, Ind., told police they saw something bright fall into the river and at the same time a plane crashed a mile away from them. They thought the bright object might have been a parachute.
Police said they could not find either wreckage or a parachute Sunday night.

McGovern Shows Strength In Ohio Demo Delegation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Organization of Ohio's delegation to the Democratic National Convention went by the script Saturday, but there were indications Sen. George McGovern might have picked up eight more votes for the presidential nomination.
As expected, Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King, a delegate for Sen. Hubert Humphrey, was elected permanent chairman of the delegation.
And delegates for Humphrey, who outnumber McGovern delegates 79-1, took all but five Ohio seats on Convention committees. Of the five seats, two went to McGovern delegates, two to delegates pledged to former Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes and one to a delegate for Rep. Wayne Hays of Flushing.
Stokes and Hays, running as favorite sons, captured eight and five delegates, respectively, in the May Ohio primary.
It's those eight Stokes delegates who show signs of swinging to McGovern. The tipoff came Saturday in balloting for members of the Credentials and Rules Committees.

Funds Awarded For Ohio Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressman Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, has announced awarding of a $250,000 federal grant to the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction to expand the foster grandparent program for mentally retarded children at six state institutions.
The grant will be used to expand the four-year-old program by attracting an additional 100 foster grandparents in the next year, Wylie said.
There are currently 74 persons over the age of 60 active in the volunteer program assisting mentally retarded at Columbus, Gallipolis, Orient, Mount Vernon and Brecksville Institutes and at Apple Creek Institute in Wayne County.

Brazil Weather Outlook Good

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — A United Nations weather expert has made a prediction that was great news for the 30 million inhabitants of northeast Brazil: there won't be another drought in this region before 1990.
Luis Aldaz of the U.N. World Meteorological Organization announced the forecast recently at a seminar on droughts and floods sponsored by the Brazilian government.
Droughts are the curse of Brazil's poverty-stricken northeast. They hit irregularly, driving hundreds of thousands of peasants from their lands in search of work and food. The last big drought was in 1970.
Farmers, in an area as big as Italy, Spain and Portugal combined, depend on unpredictable rains for their livelihoods. In all of northeast Brazil, only a 30-mile stretch along the Atlantic coast gets regular rainfall. This area is used almost exclusively for planting sugar cane, the northeast's economic mainstay.
According to Aldaz, there will be below-average rainfall in the northeast from 1971-1980. But rainfall will gradually increase during the following decade, reaching a high point around 1986, he predicted.
Based on these forecasts and existing weather records in Brazil, there should not be a serious drought in the northeast before 1990, Aldaz said.
Before 1970, the last major northeast drought was in 1958.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Four-Day Week Worries This Wife

DEAR ABBY: Do you know how this new idea of working a four-day week is going over? Several men where my husband is employed recently went on that four-day workweek and now my husband is considering going on it.

I suppose there are some advantages, but I'm not so sure how I would like that setup. It would mean having my husband around the house an extra day, and in the past some of those long holiday weekends have seemed awfully long to me.

I would like to discourage it in a subtle way, of course, but I don't want him to get the wrong idea. Anything you can tell me about it will be appreciated.

N.Y. POST READER
DEAR READER: If your husband gets the wrong idea, you're in the clear. It's the right idea you don't want him. Editor-in-chief of Forbes magazine says the men love the four-day workweek, but their wives aren't so crazy about having their husbands home that much. Malcolm must be reading your mind, Lady.

DEAR ABBY: Parents are warned repeatedly to keep cleaning fluids, drugs and poisons locked away where children cannot reach them. But nowhere have I seen a similar warning concerning iron tablets, which can be fatal if taken in large quantities.

Recently a beautiful 19-month old child crawled up on to a chair and took a bottle of iron tablets out of the cupboard. Thinking they were candies, he screwed off the cap and before he could be stopped, swallowed some 50 tablets. He was rushed to the hospital but died 45 minutes later.

From iron tablets? But that child is just as dead as if he had swallowed rat poison. Please, please, warn others.

STILL GRIEVING IN HILLSBOROUGH
DEAR GRIEVING: If your letter saves one child, it's well worth printing. Thank you for warning others.

DEAR ABBY: I just boiled when I read the letter from the mother who said, "A man should realize that he doesn't have to stop being a good son in order to be a good husband."

I wonder how many married sons are good to their mothers only because their wives insist upon it?

I've been married for 18 years, and my mother in law lives only a few blocks up the street, and I have to beg my husband to drop in and visit her. And he would never call her up and ask her how she is or if she needs anything if I didn't dial the number for him. When it snows, I'm the one who makes him go to his mother's and shovel her sidewalk. And I'm the one who sends him to take off her storm windows and put on the screens even before he does our own. And I'm the one who always suggests we invite his mother to go out to dinner with us, or for a movie, or a ride. If it were up to my husband, he'd see her Christmas and Mother's Day.

I suppose all mothers want to think their sons are perfect. Well, I have news for them. In many cases, the daughter in law deserves the credit.

If you print this, no name or town, please. My mother in law thinks her son is perfect, and I wouldn't want to disillusion her.

DAUGHTER IN LAW
DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote in saying she didn't want to have anything to do with her husband at night because he came to bed smelling like a brewery. You sure didn't give her much help. You should have told that woman to put a glass of mouthwash by his bed, and also a spittoon. The reason this world is so messed up is because we can't meet each other half way.

Steel Industry Orders Rise; Rebound From Slump Seen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Industry Week magazine said today that the steel industry is expected to rebound from a mild summer decline and achieve the best fourth quarter in its history.

The business weekly says steel orders are not as plentiful as they were a few weeks ago, but that orders coming in for August delivery are surprisingly strong.

Some 25 million net tons of steel are expected to be produced in the last three months of the year. The steel order strength will come, the magazine said, from the automobile, construction and shipbuilding industries.

Another strong influence in steel orders in the fourth quarter, according to Industry

Week, will be price-hedge buying to beat price increases slated to go into effect when the current industry-imposed price freeze expires.

Industry Week magazine said steel mill shipments for the second quarter—which ends this week—will probably exceed 24 million net tons compared to the 21.2 million tons produced in the first quarter. The magazine said third quarter shipments usually drop off by two million tons, but that the decline this year is only expected to be about one million tons.

Still another encouraging factor, Industry Week said, was the fact that steel imports are down from last year except on the West Coast. Also adding an impetus to new steel orders are low inventories at consumer plants, putting steel users in a position where they must depend more on incoming shipments than material in stock.

The magazine said September shipments will be the key to the fourth quarter.

The raw steel output for the week ended June 24 was estimated at 2,575,000 net tons by Industry Week, compared to the 2,593,000 tons produced the previous week. It was the sixth consecutive week of decline. However, the dropoff has been only 5 per cent.

Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy-melting steelmaking scrap remained at $35.50 per gross ton for the second straight week.

Senate Rejects Aid Restoration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has refused to restore the funds it cut from President Nixon's foreign military aid budget but has increased the funding for Israel.

The action Friday rebuffed pleas by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott, who contended the $245 million stricken from the $1.7 billion aid bill was the "linchpin" of the Nixon doctrine. (A linchpin goes through the end of an axle to keep the wheel from falling off.)

The Senate accepted by a 54-to-21 vote a substitute amendment offered by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, that knocked out all the money Scott sought

Jeep Plant Expansion Announced By Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Plans for a $2 million expansion and modernization project at the Jeep plant in Toledo, Ohio, were announced Friday by American Motors.

Stuart M. Reed, vice president for manufacturing, said plans include a lengthened assembly line, a mechanized paint-selectivity system and new brake-testing equipment.

Reed said daily production would be increased from 250 to 300 units by July 31 to meet an increased demand for the four-wheel-drive commercial vehicles.

STILL GRIEVING

IN HILLSBOROUGH

DEAR GRIEVING: If your letter saves one child, it's well worth printing. Thank you for warning others.

DEAR ABBY: I just boiled when I read the letter from the mother who said, "A man should realize that he doesn't have to stop being a good son in order to be a good husband."

I wonder how many married sons are good to their mothers only because their wives insist upon it?

I've been married for 18 years, and my mother in law lives only a few blocks up the street, and I have to beg my husband to drop in and visit her. And he would never call her up and ask her how she is or if she needs anything if I didn't dial the number for him.

When it snows, I'm the one who makes him go to his mother's and shovel her sidewalk. And I'm the one who sends him to take off her storm windows and put on the screens even before he does our own.

And I'm the one who always suggests we invite his mother to go out to dinner with us, or for a movie, or a ride. If it were up to my husband, he'd see her Christmas and Mother's Day.

I suppose all mothers want to think their sons are perfect. Well, I have news for them. In many cases, the daughter in law deserves the credit.

If you print this, no name or town, please. My mother in law thinks her son is perfect, and I wouldn't want to disillusion her.

DAUGHTER IN LAW

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote in saying she didn't want to have anything to do with her husband at night because he came to bed smelling like a brewery. You sure didn't give her much help. You should have told that woman to put a glass of mouthwash by his bed, and also a spittoon. The reason this world is so messed up is because we can't meet each other half way.

Steel Industry Orders Rise; Rebound From Slump Seen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Industry Week magazine said today that the steel industry is expected to rebound from a mild summer decline and achieve the best fourth quarter in its history.

The business weekly says steel orders are not as plentiful as they were a few weeks ago, but that orders coming in for August delivery are surprisingly strong.

Some 25 million net tons of steel are expected to be produced in the last three months of the year. The steel order strength will come, the magazine said, from the automobile, construction and shipbuilding industries.

Another strong influence in steel orders in the fourth quarter, according to Industry

Week, will be price-hedge buying to beat price increases slated to go into effect when the current industry-imposed price freeze expires.

Industry Week magazine said steel mill shipments for the second quarter — which ends this week — will probably exceed 24 million net tons compared to the 21.2 million tons produced in the first quarter. The magazine said third quarter shipments usually drop off by two million tons, but that the decline this year is only expected to be about one million tons.

Still another encouraging factor, Industry Week said, was the fact that steel imports are down from last year except on the West Coast. Also adding an impetus to new steel orders are low inventories at consumer plants, putting steel users in a position where they must depend more on incoming shipments than material in stock.

The magazine said September shipments will be the key to the fourth quarter.

The raw steel output for the week ended June 24 was estimated at 2,575,000 net tons by Industry Week, compared to the 2,593,000 tons produced the previous week. It was the sixth consecutive week of decline.

However, the dropoff has been only 5 per cent.

Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy-melting steelmaking scrap remained at $35.50 per gross ton for the second straight week.

Senate Rejects Aid Restoration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has refused to restore the funds it cut from President Nixon's foreign military aid budget but has increased the funding for Israel.

The action Friday rebuffed pleas by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott, who contended the $245 million stricken from the $1.7 billion aid bill was the "linchpin" of the Nixon doctrine. (A linchpin goes through the end of an axle to keep the wheel from falling off.)

The Senate accepted by a 54-to-21 vote a substitute amendment offered by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, that knocked out all the money Scott sought

Jeep Plant Expansion Announced By Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Plans for a $2 million expansion and modernization project at the Jeep plant in Toledo, Ohio, were announced Friday by American Motors.

Stuart M. Reed, vice president for manufacturing, said plans include a lengthened assembly line, a mechanized paint-selectivity system and new brake-testing equipment.

Reed said daily production would be increased from 250 to 300 units by July 31 to meet an increased demand for the four-wheel-drive commercial vehicles.

to put back in except for $35 million to Israel. The bill already contained $50 million in military aid to Israel.

Reds Defeat Astros; Hold Division Lead

CINCINNATI (AP)—Denis Menke said that although he got the game winning hit Sunday in the Cincinnati Reds' 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros, he liked being in first place equally well.

"It sure did feel good to get that big hit, but what really feels good is to be back in first place," said the Reds' third baseman and former Houston Astro, whose double drove in Tony Perez from first in the bottom of the 10th inning to put the Reds one-half game in front of the Astros in the National League's Western Division.

"I hit a fast ball in on me and I hit it just right and kept hoping it would stay fair and luckily it stayed fair," Menke said. "I didn't have any particular satisfaction beating Houston. All I'm out to do is win the game."

Menke, of course, along with Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham and Cesar Geronimo came to the Reds from the Astros in the post season trade for Lee May, Jimmy Stewart and Tommy Helms.

Morgan also contributed to the Reds' win, banging his ninth home run of the year, a two-run blast in the bottom of the seventh to knot the score at 4-4.

The Reds had jumped on top in the third when starting pitcher Jim McGlothlin doubled with one down, went to third on Ken Forsch's wild pitch and after Pete Rose and Morgan walked, McGlothlin came home when Bobby Tolman walked.

However, the Astros took a 3-1 lead in the fourth when Tommy Helms belted his third home run of the year with two outs after Bob Watson and Doug Rader had singled. Menke made it 3-2 in the Reds half of the fourth when he hit his fourth homer of the year.

The Astros took a 4-2 lead in the fifth when Jimmy Wynn singled home Cesar Cedeno, who had doubled with two outs, but the Reds tied it in the seventh when Morgan got his two-run homer after Rose singled.

Menke delivered his game winning double after Perez had singled to enable reliever Clay Carroll to win his fourth game in five decisions. Fred Gladding, 1-3, was the loser in relief.

Perez, who is not noted for his speed, said "we got speed to burn. I was going to score no matter what. I was really flying, man."

Reds manager Sparky Anderson said "it was an awfully big game. After all, if we lose we're one and a half games out, and by winning we go out west a half game on top."

He said "it gets back to the fact that our relief pitching (Tom Hall, Pedro Borbon and Clay Carroll who allowed only two hits between them) has never let us down and we had five innings of shutout ball from them today."

Astros manager Harry Walker said "Forsch's control was off and it was bound to hurt him sooner or later. They (the Reds) hit a couple of shots with men on base that were outs and how long can you stay lucky like that?"

The Reds play the Los Angeles Dodgers tonight in the first of a two-game set of a seven-game west coast trip.

Phillies Win Free-For-All Tilt, 1-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not likely to make Montreal's Tim Lincecum feel a whole lot better now, but Steve Carlton didn't really mean to bean him. "I'm sorry I plunked Foli on the head," said Carlton of the fourth inning pitch that precipitated a baseball free-for-all between the Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

"I was trying to get him in the ribs, but the ball got away on me."

Foli bounced up off the ground and started after Carlton, signalling both dugouts to empty with Montreal Manager Gene Mauch leading the charge. He went after Carlton and wound up getting thrown out of the game when the umpires decided he had thrown the first punch in the ensuing brawl.

Catcher John Bateman's fifth inning homer accounted for the only run of the day as Carlton's four-hitter blanked the Expos 1-0.

In other National League games, St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-1 and 2-1, Pittsburgh battered Chicago 9-2, Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, Diego 6-5 in 14 innings and Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 5-0.

Rick Wise, the man the Phillies traded to get Carlton, tossed a four-hitter of his own as St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the Mets. Wise took the second game after Scipio Spinks doled out six hits and struck out 13 batters to win the opener.

The nightcap was tied 1-1 until the ninth when Ted Simmons doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored as ex-Met Don Clendenon beat out an infield single. Bernie Carbo had homered earlier for St. Louis.

In the opener, Lou Brock, Matty Alou, Joe Torre and Luis Melendez had two-hits apiece for the Cardinals.

The double loss dropped the Mets three games back of Pittsburgh in the National League East. The Pirates ripped the Cubs, sweeping the three-game series from Chicago, as Manny Sanguillen hit his first career grand slam homer, triggering a late-inning comeback.

Jim Jamieson Wins Easily In Western Open With 271

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — Jim Jamieson's victory in the Western Open was one of those beautiful happenings.

It was his first golf tournament triumph in four years on the PGA tour and it came in the friendly confines of his home state with 2,000 followers from his native Moline area forming the most enthusiastic army since Arnie's.

His parents, an uncle, the best man at his wedding, his old pro pal, Bob Fry of the Crow Valley Country Club in Davenport, Iowa, his wife, his 16-month-old son—they all were at the Sunset Ridge Country Club Sunday to see Jimmy Boy win.

And nobody has won by as big a margin this year. The chunky Jamieson, who has trimmed his weight to 217 pounds, finished with a 69 for a 271 total—13 strokes under par and six strokes ahead of his nearest rival, Labron Harris.

Harris charged with a closing 65 for 277, followed at 280 by Hale Irwin, Jim Wiechers and Bob Lun. Five others were grouped at 281, including Tommy Aaron who was second, eight strokes behind.

The largest winning margin previously this season on the tour was Lee Trevino's four-stroke victory in the Memphis Open.

Purina Raps AL In Majors

Chris Mays and Tom Logan fired the win for Purina as they easily won over American Legion 17-7 in Major League play.

The two hurlers gave up seven hits, walked six, and struck out 13.

Todd Mancini was Purina's heavy hitter smashing two homers, and a double. Mike Brudzinski hit a triple and a single, Tom Logan a double, Rock Schwalbaugh a couple one baggers while Mays, Mike Rodgers, Mark Blue and Roy Huffer hit singles.

Don Hill, Kevin Woltz and Bruce Hannigan were all on the mound for the American Legion Saturday. They gave up 12 hits, walked five and struck out four.

Brian Hannigan, Kevin Woltz, Dave Beckey, Tom McGuire, Dave Marshall, Dave Holbrook and Don Hill each hit a single for the Legion squad.

Purina is now second in the Major League standings with a record of 3-1, American Legion has a 1-2 record and Elks leads the league at 4-0.

North Stomps South, 103-89, At Marion

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MARION, Ohio (AP)—The North's high octane attack clicked for 65 second half points, but it was defense that turned the 1972 Ohio High School All-Star Basketball Classic into a rout.

"We worked harder at defense in the second half," said North mentor John Chavers of Cleveland East Tech in the wake of a 109-83 whacking of the South Saturday night.

"James Abrams made a great difference with his defense in the second half," admitted Springfield North's Don Henderson, one of the South coaches.

Abrams, an East Tech star who scored only 13 points, stole the ball several times and shut off the Rebels inside.

Craig Lynch, Toledo's 6-foot-6 all-star headed for Furman University, came off the bench to pour in 23 points and lead the North offense.

Another all-starred, 6-5 Scott May of Sandusky, whipped in 19 more in the second worst rout in the series' 13 games.

While the North defense stiffened in the second half, the South's went to pieces.

"We put pressure on them in the first half and they couldn't run their offense," said Henderson of the underdog South's 44-44 tie at halftime.

Then, in the second half we just didn't get the ball and we didn't get back on defense when they started running," he added.

Reds Defeat Astros; Hold Division Lead

CINCINNATI (AP)—Denis Menke said that although he got the game winning hit Sunday in the Cincinnati Reds' 5-1 victory over the Houston Astros, he liked being in first place equally well.

"It sure did feel good to get that big hit, but what really feels good is to be back in first place," said the Reds' third baseman and former Houston Astro, whose double drove in Tony Perez from first in the bottom of the 10th inning to put the Reds one-half game in front of the Astros in the National League's Western Division.

"I hit a fast ball in on me and I hit it just right and kept hoping it would stay fair and luckily it stayed fair," Menke said. "I didn't have any particular satisfaction beating Houston. All I'm out to do is win the game."

Menke, of course, along with Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham and Cesar Geronimo came to the Reds from the Astros in the post season trade for Lee May, Jimmy Stewart and Tommy Helms.

Morgan also contributed to the Reds' win, banging his ninth home run of the year, a two-run blast in the bottom of the seventh to knot the score at 4-4.

The Reds had jumped on top in the third when starting pitcher Jim McGlothlin doubled with one down, went to third on Ken Forsch's wild pitch and after Pete Rose and Morgan walked, McGlothlin came home when Bobby Tolan walked.

However, the Astros took a 3-1 lead in the fourth when Tommy Helms belted his third home run of the year with two outs after Bob Watson and Doug Rader had singled. Menke made it 3-2 in the Reds half of the fourth when he hit his fourth homer of the year.

The Astros took a 4-2 lead in the fifth when Jimmy Wynn singled home Cesar Cedeno, who had doubled with two outs, but the Reds tied it in the seventh when Morgan got his two-run homer after Rose singled.

Menke delivered his game winning double after Perez had singled to enable reliever Clay Carroll to win his fourth game in five decisions. Fred Gladding, 1-3, was the loser in relief.

Perez, who is not noted for his speed, said "we got speed to burn, I was going to score no matter what. I was really flying, man."

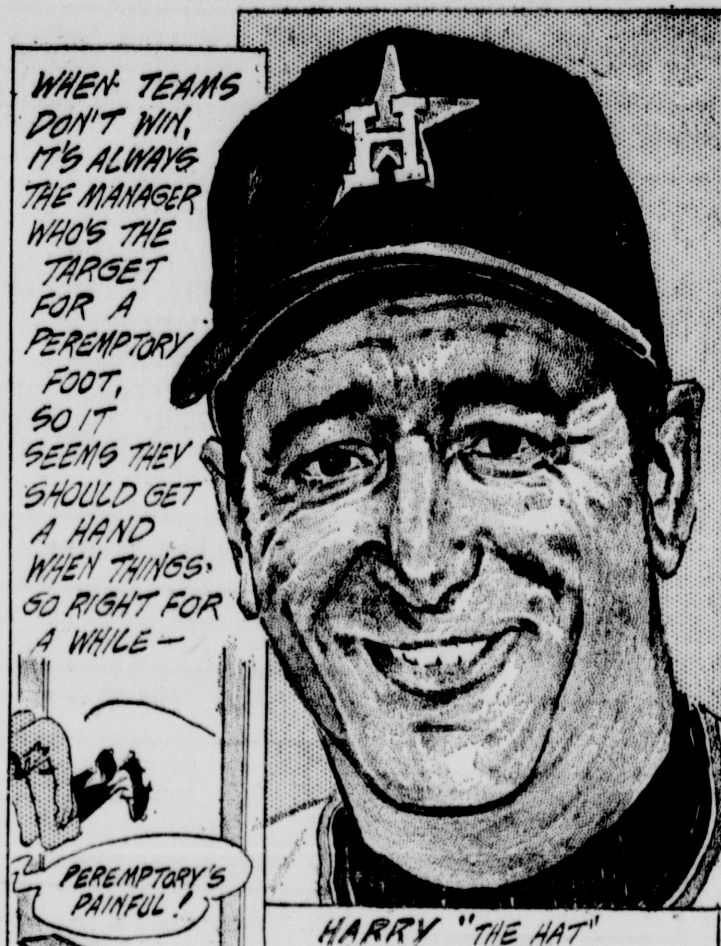

Reds manager Sparky Anderson said "it was an awfully big game. After all, if we lose we're one and a half games out, and by winning we go out west a half game on top."

He said "it gets back to the fact that our relief pitching (Tom Hall, Pedro Borbon and Clay Carroll who allowed only two hits between them) has never let us down and we had five innings of shutout ball from them today."

Astros manager Harry Walker said "Forsch's control was off and it was bound to hurt him sooner or later. They (the Reds) hit a couple of shots with men on base that were outs and how long can you stay lucky like that?"

The Reds play the Los Angeles Dodgers tonight in the first of a two-game set of a seven-game west coast trip.

Phillies Win Free-For-All Tilt, 1-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not likely to make Montreal's Tim Lincecum feel a whole lot better now, but Steve Carlton didn't really mean to bean him. "I'm sorry I plunked Folli on the head," said Carlton of the fourth inning pitch that precipitated a baseball free-for-all between the Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

"I was trying to get him in the ribs, but the ball got away on me."

Folli bounced up off the ground and started after Carlton, signalling both dugouts to empty with Montreal Manager Gene Mauch leading the charge. He went after Carlton and wound up getting thrown out of the game when the umpires decided he had thrown the first punch in the ensuing brawl.

Catcher John Bateman's fifth inning homer accounted for the only run of the day as Carlton's four-hitter blanked the Expos 1-0.

In other National League games, St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-1 and 2-1, Pittsburgh battered Chicago 9-2, Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, Diego 6-5 in 14 innings and Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 5-0.

Rick Wise, the man the Phillies traded to get Carlton, tossed a four-hitter of his own as St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the Mets. Wise took the second game after Scipio Spinks doled out six hits and struck out 13 batters to win the opener.

The nightcap was tied 1-1 until the ninth when Ted Simmons doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored as ex-Met Don Clendenon beat out an infield single. Bernie Carbo had homered earlier for St. Louis.

In the opener, Lou Brock, Matty Alou, Joe Torre and Luis Melendez had two-hits apiece for the Cardinals.

The double loss dropped the Mets three games back of Pittsburgh in the National League East. The Pirates ripped the Cubs, sweeping the three-game series from Chicago, as Manny Sanguillen hit his first career grand slam homer, triggering a late-inning comeback.

Pittsburgh was trailing 2-1 with two out in the eighth inning when Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell singled, knocking out starter Burt Hooton. Al Oliver walked and then Sanguillen walloped his grand slam homer, giving the Pirates the lead. Pittsburgh wrapped it up with four more runs in the ninth.

Starter Tomy John and reliever Pete Mikkelsen combined for a seven-hit shutout as Los Angeles trimmed Atlanta.

Bill Russell and Chris Cannizzaro drove in two runs apiece for the Dodgers and Manny Mota tagged a home run.

Garry Maddox doubled in the 14th inning and then scored from second base on an infield out to give San Francisco its winning run against San Diego.

Chris Speier had four hits and Dave Rader homered for the Giants. Garry Jesteadt's two-run ninth inning homer had tied the score for the Padres.

Orioles Stop Detroit, 2-1; Both Sides Claim 'Victory'

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Martin and Lewis and Rowan and Martin are among the more prominent comedy teams of recent vintage and Martin and Weaver aren't bad, either.

The rival baseball managers—Detroit's Martin and Baltimore's Weaver—were in top form Sunday after the Orioles nipped the Tigers 2-1, capturing two of the three weekend games and moving back into a tie with Detroit atop the American League East.

"Oh, yeah, we're going to win," needed Martin. "I'm more sure than ever after seeing the Orioles."

"I guess if we had won all three games he would have been surer," retorted Weaver.

"Tell Weaver I'll get good seats for him in the playoffs and the World Series," Martin shot back. "If he's not coming, tell him to get a TV set."

"I got him nice seats the last three years," Weaver replied. "It's about time he reciprocated."

Elsewhere, Oakland swept a doubleheader from California 6-1 and 6-0, the Chicago White Sox outslugged Texas 10-5, Cleveland took two from the New York Yankees 4-3 and 5-1, Minnesota downed Kansas City 5-3 but dropped the nightcap 8-3 and Milwaukee blanked Boston 2-0 after the Red Sox won the opener 8-1.

Baltimore's Jim Palmer yielded a first-inning home run to Detroit's Gates Brown but shut the Tigers out thereafter, finishing with a seven-hitter. It was Palmer's eighth consecutive victory, but Martin wasn't impressed.

Catfish Hunter stopped California on three hits in the first game and Blue Moon Odom and Darold Knowles combined for a six-hit shutout for the A's in the nightcap. Odom was helped by Gene Tenace's three-run homer and a two-run shot by Bando, who collected five hits during the twin bill, including a run-scoring triple in the opener.

The sweep put the A's four games ahead of the White Sox in the AL West. Carlos May's grand slam home run highlighted a seven-run fourth inning that powered Chicago past Texas.

Cleveland ended New York's six-game winning streak with three runs in the eighth inning of the opener, making Gaylord Perry the first 12-game winner in the majors, and wrapped up the nightcap with three runs in the first inning.

Ray Fosse's tie-breaking double and John Lowenstein's pinch two-run double were the key blows in the first game. Gerry Moses delivered a two-run single in the second game after a two-out throwing error by catcher John Ellis kept the first inning alive.

Latham, of Cincinnati, drove a Chevrolet to a quarter-lap victory in a 100-lap dirt track event for U.S. Auto Club stockers at Deer Haute. Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., was second in a Dodge and Chuck McWilliams of Walton, Ky., was fourth in a Plymouth.

At Pocono, Pa., where qualifying was to have been held Saturday and Sunday to set a 33-car field for the $400,000 Schaefer 500, a spring under the third turn at Pocono International Raceway bubbled up persistently to shut the track down for the sixth straight day Sunday.

With six of the seven scheduled practice days having been washed out by rains that flooded much of Pennsylvania, time trials were set back to Thursday and Friday of this week.

Chillicothe was behind 5-1 in the top of the seventh inning when they rallied to tie the game at 5 all and went on to score three more runs in the eighth.

Petty, Latham Win Races; Pocono Practice Put Off

By BLOYS BRITT

Richard Petty won the 145th race of his career in 100 degrees in Texas, Ralph Latham enjoyed bright sunshine in romping to victory in Indiana and a spring bubbled over a little bit too much in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania.

Those were the highlights of the weekend's auto racing program, one of the lightest of a record-setting season thus far.

Petty, driving a 1972 Dodge, finished a lap ahead of chief adversary Bobby Allison to cop the Lone Star 400-mile race for National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing Grand National stock cars at Texas International Speedway at Bryan.

The tall veteran from Randleman, N.C., grabbed the lead on the 136th circuit of the two-mile Texas layout and fought off challenges by both Allison and Dodge-driving Bobby Isaac to average 144.185 miles per hour for the 250 laps.

Latham, of Cincinnati, drove a Chevrolet to a quarter-lap victory in a 100-lap dirt track event for U.S. Auto Club stockers at Deer Haute. Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., was second in a Dodge and Chuck McWilliams of Walton, Ky., was fourth in a Plymouth.

AL Post 757 Splits Pair With Post 25

Chillicothe Post 757 edged Newark Saturday and split a double header with Washington C. H. Post 25 Sunday in American League play over the weekend.

Post 757 won over Newark 8-7, Saturday at Chillicothe City Park.

Tom Taylor, a recent addition to the ball club, smacked two singles for the winners, while Dave Truex and Rock Davis hit singles.

Post 757 lost to Washington C. H. Post 25 4-0 in the first game played at Washington C. H. Sunday.

Rock Davis cracked a double in the tilt for Post 757 while Jeff Harr hit a single for an RBI and Scott Riddle hit w/o singles for the Washington Post.

Chillicothe took the second game of the double header 8-4 in eight innings.

Greg Hoskins pitched 3 2-3 innings giving up four hits, two runs, no walks and two strike outs. He was relieved after being struck on the wrist by a line drive.

Chillicothe was behind 5-1 in the top of the seventh inning when they rallied to tie the game at 5 all and went on to score three more runs in the eighth.

Rock Davis was hitting with a double and a single for two RBIs and Tom Taylor popped a single and scored two runs.

Hitting for the Washington C. H. Post in the second game were Harr with a single and a RBI and Riddle with a single.

The Chillicothe team now stands 4-4 in their league and Post 25 is 6-2.

Post 757 will play Chillicothe Post 62 at Chillicothe City Park 8 p.m. Wednesday.

North Stomps South, 103-89, At Marion

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MARION, Ohio (AP)—The North's high octane attack clicked for 65 second half points, but it was defense that turned the 1972 Ohio High School All-Star Basketball Classic into a rout.

"We worked harder at defense in the second half," said North mentor John Chavers of Cleveland East Tech in the wake of a 109-83 whacking of the South Saturday night.

"James Abrams made a great difference with his defense in the second half," admitted Springfield North's Don Henderson, one of the South coaches.

Abrams, an East Tech star who scored only 13 points, stole the ball several times and shut off the Rebels inside.

Craig Lynch, Toledo's 6-foot-6 all-star headed for Furman University, came off the bench to pour in 23 points and lead the North offense.

Another all-starred, 6-5 Scott May of Sandusky, whipped in 19 more in the second worst rout in the series' 13 games.

While the North defense stiffened in the second half, the South's went to pieces.

"We put pressure on them in the first half and they couldn't run their offense," said Henderson of the underdog South's 44-44 tie at halftime.

Then, in the second half we just didn't get the ball and we didn't get back on defense when they started running," he added.

Purina Raps AL In Majors

Chris Mays and Tom Logan fired the win for Purina as they easily won over American Legion 17-7 in Major League play.

The two hurlers gave up seven hits, walked six, and struck out 13.

Todd Mancini was Purina's heavy hitter smashing two homers, and a double. Mike Brudzinski hit a triple and a single, Tom Logan a double, Rock Schwalbaugh a couple one baggers while Mays, Mike Rodgers, Mark Blue and Roy Huffer hit singles.

Don Hill, Kevin Woltz and Bruce Hannigan were all on the mound for the American Legion Saturday. They gave up 12 hits, walked five and struck out four.

Brian Hannigan, Kevin Woltz, Dave Beckey, Tom McGuire, Dave Marshall, Dave Holbrook and Don Hill each hit a single for the Legion squad.

Purina is now second in the Major League standings with a record of 3-1, American Legion has a 1-2 record and Elks leads the league at 4-0.

And nobody has won by as big a margin this year. The chunky Jamieson, who has trimmed his weight to 217 pounds, finished with a 69 for a 271 total—13 strokes under par and six strokes ahead of his nearest rival, Labron Harris.

Harris charged with a closing 65 for 277, followed at 280 by Hale Irwin, Jim Wiechers and Bob Lun. Five others were grouped at 281, including Tommy Aaron who was second, eight strokes behind.

The largest winning margin previously this season on the tour was Lee Trevino's four-stroke victory in the Memphis Open.

Pickaway DuPont Rips Laurelville To Win Tourney

Chuck Cave and Tony Crist combined to hurl the victory for DuPont. They allowed four hits, three walks and struck out nine.

Brad Ebert, Todd McNichols and Randy Rutter shared mound duties for Laurelville. They gave up 15 hits, walked eight and fanned two.

Jeff Collins led the DuPont plate attack with two homers and a double, Tom Congrove added four singles, Cave had three doubles, Dave Palmer had a pair of one baggers while Chris Fouch, John Mettler and Gary Weaver each had a single for the winners.

Jones paced the Laurelville nine with a double and a single while Ebert and Justice each had a one-bagger to account for the losers hits.

Pickaway DuPont will host Saltcreek today.

Jamieson, who came up from the caddy ranks at Oakwood Country Club in Moline and won the 1964 Chicago District Amateur and 1967 Illinois State Amateur, pocketed $30,000 in becoming the first Illinois player to join the Western Open since Chick Evans in 1910.

It boosted his 1972 earnings to $77,603 and his total as a pro to $149,458.

Lady Ump Gives Up After Game

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — It took Bernice Gera six years to battle her way to her goal of umpiring in professional baseball. Then after seven dispute-filled innings it was all over, and the petite New York housewife dropped out of public view, unavailable for comment or explanation.

Mrs. Gera resigned in tears Saturday night after serving as base umpire in a New York-Pennsylvania League game between the Auburn Phillies and Geneva Rangers—her six years of effort and legal wrangling to break baseball officiating's sex barrier apparently at an ironic end.

We don't know where she is now," Barney Deary, chief of umpire development for pro baseball, said Sunday while watching the teams play in Auburn.

During Saturday's night game the heat was turned on in the fourth inning of a seven-inning contest when Auburn Manager Nlan Campbell was evicted from the proceedings by the 40-year-old lady umpire for protesting too loudly one of her calls.

It really wasn't anything I said. She put me out before I had a chance," Campbell explained to the Auburn crowd Sunday.

The heated moments came when Auburn's Terry Ford slid back into second base from a lead. Mrs. Gera first called him safe, then thumbed him out seconds later. According to Campbell Mrs. Gera admitted she had been mixed up on the play.

Two other contested calls followed.

East Wins Hot Grid Game, 42-20

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Early in the fourth quarter the mosquito fog truck made a strategic circle around Jones Stadium and thousands of fans thought a fire had started.

We now pick up quotes from the official play-by-play in the press box at the 12th annual Coaches All-America football game Saturday night:

There's a fire, nope, it's a DDT truck ... 42,314 fans gag on DDT. The DDT truck was another in a series of obstacles the All-America game seems to survive year after year.

And despite 102-degree heat at kickoff Saturday night the afore-mentioned 42,314 fans showed up for the third game in the series here to watch the underdog East capture a 42-20 victory over the West in the official opener to the 1972 football season before a national television audience.

The third game in Lubbock was less than an artistic masterpiece with the alert East taking advantage of numerous West miscues. Ron Curl of Michigan State blocked a West punt in the first four minutes and the landslide was on as the East evened the series at six games apiece.

Billy Taylor of Michigan was voted the outstanding player on the strength of his two touchdown runs. He nearly went home on the eve of the game because of the deaths of an aunt and uncle.

All-Sports Openings In Hall Prepared

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association has decided its proposed Hall of Fame building here should include all high school sports.

Cincinnati Reds Sign David Embree

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds announced today that David Embree, of Harper Woods, Mich., their third round draft choice in the recent free agent draft, has signed a minor league contract.

Embree, an 18-year-old infielder, batted .340 for his high school this past year and had five home runs. He is a right-handed hitter.

Bob Barton Won't Play For Indy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Catcher Bob Barton, recently obtained by the Cincinnati Reds from the San Diego Padres in exchange for Pat Corrales, does not want to go back to the minor leagues.

"To get right to the point, I feel that if I am not a player in the big leagues, I am not a player at all," he told the Cincinnati Enquirer in a telephone interview from his home in Poway, Calif.

"My days in the minor leagues are over. Listen, it took too long to get to the majors. I am not going back."

Padres manager Don Zimmer told Barton his contract was assigned to the Reds' Indianapolis farm team, but Barton insists he will not play for the team.

"Call it egotism, call it anything. But every ball player has high regard for himself and his ability. I think I am a major league catcher. Some in baseball have questions about my bat, but I think I proved my capabilities last year when I had the chance to catch regularly. I guess I was wrong."

Barton said he had "great rapport with (fired Padres manager) Preston Gomez, great confidence, great communications. My personal feeling is Don Zimmer did not have the same confidence. It was then really no surprise when Don Zimmer told me I had been traded to Cincinnati. My immediate thoughts were 'great ... home town ... (he's from Covington, Ky.) the Reds can get to go to the World Series.' ... that's good, even though I knew I didn't have much of a chance of playing regularly with John Bench here."

He said the "real surprise—shock maybe—hit when Zimmer said I was going to Indianapolis. There is no way I'm going back to the minors."

Gene Whipp Wins Regatta At Dayton

Crenshaw And Kite Tie In NCAA Golf

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP) — The 1972 NCAA Golf Championship is in the hands of two University of Texas teammates, and neither is particularly happy about it.

"Tying is like kissing your sister," said senior Tom Kite after he had seen sole possession of the title pulled from his grasp when defending champion Ben Crenshaw canned a 25-foot put on the final hole Saturday.

"No," said sophomore Crenshaw, "it's like kissing your brother."

KIEL, Germany (AP) — Crossbreed a poodle and a wolf and you get a poowo and some clue to the origins of man's best friend.

Crossbreeding experiments at Kiel University have led researchers to conclude the wolf is forefather to the dog. Man has been the matchmaker in a long selective process that has changed a fierce, preying animal into a tame house pet.

"The dog is a wolf that has been adapted to the conditions of living in domesticity," said Prof. Wolf Herre, director of the 10 year project.

Herre has ruled out the jackal and coyote as dog's ancient ancestor.

"There is a biological theory of breeding that holds that only animals belonging together mate voluntarily," Herre said.

Experiments at Kiel have demonstrated the mating of a jackal and a poodle to be possible, but difficult. Attempts to crossbreed a poodle and coyote have failed at Kiel, although similar attempts have succeeded in the United States.

No difficulty exists here or in the wilderness in bringing wolves and dogs together.

Report UMW Vote Slated In December

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The court-ordered rerun of the United Mine Workers 1969 election will be held Dec. 1 through Dec. 8, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said in today's editions.

Quoting "reliable sources," the paper said a decision on the date was reached at a meeting in Washington attended by representatives from the U.S. Labor Department, the UMW and the union's dissident Miners for Democracy faction.

Balloting, to be supervised by the Labor Department, will be held in groups of the union's 24 districts at different times, the paper reported.

First balloting is reportedly set for the western part of the United States, with Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio members — making up more than half of the union's rolls — voting in the latter part of the week.

To secure a spot on the ballot, each candidate must be nominated or endorsed by 50 of the union's 1,200 locals. Candidates will seek nominations, the Post-Gazette said, between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

The election rerun was ordered by U.S. District Court in Washington, D. C., after a Labor Department suit charging widespread irregularities in the Dec. 9, 1969 contest.

Incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle won that election by a wide margin over insurgent leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, who was slain along with his wife and daughter three weeks later.

Nixon Does Well In Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Nixon's performance in office appears to have the approval of a majority of Americans, according to a Gallup Poll.

The results of the survey were released Sunday and showed that 60 per cent of those interviewed said they approved of the President's actions. Thirty-two per cent said they disapproved, and the remaining eight per cent indicated they had no opinion.

The survey was conducted between June 16 and 19.

Indonesian City Is Isolated Now

By FRANK N. HAWKINS Jr.
DJAJAPURA, Indonesia (AP) — In 1944 when this scenic port was still known as Hollandia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur made it world famous by establishing his headquarters here to begin his drive north against the Japanese.

Little has been heard of this fascinating little city since. That's not surprising.

In addition to having undergone three confusing name changes, the city remains one of the most isolated in the world. And little but the nationality of the city's rulers has changed.

Located on the eastern edge of the Indonesian archipelago in the middle of New Guinea island, Djajapura is only an hour from the Stone Age but at least two days from the rest of the world.

Regularly scheduled flights go almost daily southwards to the heart of the Baliem Valley where nearly naked neolithic tribesmen live.

But to get to far away Jakarta which is about the same distance as Jakarta is from Hong Kong, one must fly to the island of Biak and stay overnight before catching the 11-hour long connecting flight.

Draped over a series of jungle green hills which wrap around Humboldt Bay in a way that reminds many visitors of Hong Kong, Djajapura's chief claim to fame these days is its function as the sleepy capital of West Irian province.

As a result it is very much a company town — the company being the Japanese dominated Indonesian government and military whose leaders form the social and political elite here.

For the outside visitor, this historic city bears the striking watermarks of many waves of conquerors, liberators and developers that have washed over it.

Signs sprinkled around the city tell much of the story. Several buildings still bear company signs written in Dutch when the city was known as Hollandia under Dutch rule. One also finds directional signs that point to Kota Baru — the first name given by the Indonesians after the Dutch pulled out.

Others still refer to Sukarnapura, the name the late President Sukarno bestowed on the city.

Now under the administration of President Suharto, the city is known as Djajapura.

The rusting hulk of a Japanese transport ship partially sunk during World War II sits silently in the bay. McArthur Hill located 20 miles west near Sentani Airport and the now badly potholed road built by McArthur which connects the airport and Djajapura are other reminders of the American presence here during the war. The local beach is still called Base G and McArthur's headquarters has been transformed into Tjenderwasih University.

Djajapura today is also a city with a crank battery powered telephone system with no connections outside Indonesia. Nearby Sentani Lake, which thousands of years ago was undoubtedly connected to the Pacific Ocean, contains salt-water fish such as sawfish and according to some local residents sharks.

For a city of 30,000 people, there are two poorly stocked drugstores, two gasoline stations with waiting lines that run up to 30 minutes, two irregularly published newspapers, two movie theaters that usually feature class B films dating back to 1965 or earlier, an army run swimming pool and an army run night club — the Tjenderwasih or Bird of Paradise.

Chinese traders keep what little commerce there is going. Their stores, reminiscent of the old American west style general stores, are plentifully stocked with Japanese, Australian, American and Indonesian luxury goods reflecting an artificial prosperity.

The Chinese also run the few restaurants in town.

Auto, House Fires Alert Local Force

Sunday was a busy day for Circleville firemen, who answered three alarms for fires beginning 1:45 a.m.

The earliest alarm was to 113 N. Scioto, a house owned by Clyde Kohn and occupied by Ray Phillips. Firemen estimated $100 damage to contents caused when a mattress on a hide-a-bed caught fire. No cause for the blaze was listed.

At 2:50 p.m. and shortly before 9 that same evening, they were called to extinguish fires in the engines of two autos. The first, owned by Chillicothe resident Chuck Morrison, occurred at 429 E. Mound St. Later that evening a fire started in a car at the Dairy Isle, Lancaster Pike. The vehicle was owned by Sigle Watson, Route 1, Ashville.

In both incidents, firemen indicated the owners were driving vehicles without air filters. The blazes started by a carburetor backfire. No damage was listed for either vehicle.

Patrol Cites Man In Crash

A Columbus driver was cited in a two-car collision Sunday noon on Interstate 71 in Pickaway County.

Leo L. Prochaska, 36, was charged by the Highway Patrol with driving without assured clear distance ahead when he operated his vehicle into the rear of another auto on the freeway.

Prochaska told officers he was headed north on the interstate system and did not notice the auto ahead, containing three Nelsonville women, until it was too late to avoid a collision.

Passengers in the other automobile operated by Doris Johnson, 46, were Peggy Ritz, 37 and Mary Brooks, 41, all from Nelsonville. All reported slight injuries.

Arrests

Lester Davis, 53, 1229 Norfolk Ave., indecent and improper liberties with a minor.

Russel L. Jacobs Jr., 34, New Holland, 60 miles per hour in a 50 zone.

Terry M. Grabans, 27, Route 1, stop sign violation.

Clyde E. Kohn, 38, 416 Faye Ave. 70 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

William M. Johnson 33, 317 E. Corwin Ave., driving while intoxicated.

John M. Greene, 17, Williamsport, failure to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

Randall W. Stewart, 22, Columbus, driving while intoxicated.

George Edward Rieder Jr., 40, Columbus, driving while intoxicated.

Henry A. Walisa, 47, 305 W. Mound St., driving while intoxicated.

Earl Gulich, 33, Route 4, intoxication.

Bomb Behind Air Crash?

SAIGON (AP) — Informed sources say a bomb on board probably caused the crash in the central highlands of the Cathay Pacific Airways jetliner in which 81 persons died. Investigators are now checking the insurance policies of the passengers, who included 16 Americans.

The informants said all other possibilities have been virtually eliminated, and collision, weather and any type of military activity have been ruled out completely.

The four-engine Convair was on a flight from Singapore and Bangkok to Hong Kong when it crashed about 200 miles north-east of Saigon, killing the 71 passengers and 10 crew members.

They said the investigators are advancing two reasons for the bomb theory. One is that the Convair's airframe is regarded as one of the strongest ever built, and there is no record of one ever experiencing a failure in flight. The other is that there was no indication of trouble between the pilot's last radio message and the crash three minutes later.

Blue Cross Hit By Damage Suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eleven Cleveland attorneys have sued Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio for allegedly failing to screen out industrial-related cases and overcharging subscribers as much as $10 million a year.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court was asked Friday to order Blue Cross to audit admissions records and claims over the last 10 years. It asks that Blue Cross be ordered to repay the sum established by the audit to all subscribers on a pro-rata basis.

Involved are industrial-related accidents that should have been paid by the Ohio Industrial Commission.

The economic plank calls for a job for everyone, replacing the welfare system with a program of federal income assistance, and a fair plan for stabilizing prices, profits, dividends, wages and executive salaries.

The Credentials Committee, before opening debate today on a record number of delegate-seating challenges elected Patricia Harris of Washington, a black lawyer, as permanent chairman.

In the early months of the Civil War, the Capitol in Washington served as barracks, then as a hospital.
